PRODUCE PUZZLES PUSSY

This is a picture of a tomato that looks like a cat, or a cat that looks like a tomato, depending on how you look at it. The tomato was grown by N. Nicholas Shehadi of 73 Broadmoor avenue, San Anselmo. Two doors away, "Tiger," a cat owned by 10-year-old Mary Ann Rechfertig of 81 Broadmoor, heard there was a new cat in the neighborhood, and strolled over for a look. Here he registers his puzzlement over the whole thing.

NEW SATELLITE ORBIT WIDEST YET ACHIEVED

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Explorer VI, the most complex U.S. satellite, is circling the earth in an orbit that is wider than it appeared after Friday's launching.

The space agency in Washington said new calculations showed at mid-afternoon today that the paddle-wheel satellite is swinging out 26,400 miles from the earth, and then coming down to within 157 miles at the low point, the widest orbit yet made by a satellite.

It takes the 142-pound satellite 12 hours, 45 minutes to make one orbit around the earth.

Blast Rubble Probed For More Victims

ROSEBURG, Ore., (UPI)—The ruins of one of Oregon's worst disasters were searched today for the remains of more victims feared cremated when six tons of dynamite and ammonium nitrate were touched off by fire.

The known death toll was 10 and three more persons were missing and presumed dead. Deputy Coroner Russ Carry said "we are positive there are other victims and I'm afraid the final toll may be between 25 and 30."

The Red Cross, in a preliminary damage estimate, listed four apartment houses destroyed. Carry said "we know there were people in those places."

The deputy coroner said some ashes, believed to be remains of human bones, were sent to the state crime laboratory. Other ashes were spotted in the rubble. Carry said ashes from bones are a different color and that the odor indicated there were more bodies.

Fifteen persons remained hospitalized here and one at Eugene. Four of them were in critical condition. One victim, a four-year-old girl, died in a hospital. Only five of the nine

Two Counties Hit By Strike Of Teamsters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Teamster officials strove today to gain control of a potentially paralyzing strike here and in San Mateo County—voted by the membership of the big Local 85 against the wishes of its leaders.

The strike began yesterday after a tumultuous four-hour membership meeting in Civic Auditorium. The 3,500 San Francisco members overrode a recommended three-year contract with employer groups and voted to strike for a one-year contract.

San Mateo County's 2,500 members joined in.

THREE-YEAR PACKAGE

Business Manager Harold Lopez and President Joseph Diviny had recommended acceptance of the three-year package offered by employers—a $2 per day raise for each of the three years plus sick leave and vacation improvements. The contract which expired July 1 paid $19.80 to $21.80 per day.

"We're not screaming for money," said one teamster. "Our beef is with the three-year contract. We want a one-year contract."

Members voted to demand a $2.75 per day package raise in a one-year pact.

TRUCKS STOPPED

Strikers picketed the truck off-ramp of the Bay Bridge and began stopping trucks arriving from Oakland.

The 2,500 members of the local in San Mateo County quickly began halting trucks coming into San Mateo County from the south.

Technically, the strike was against 100 firms in San Francisco, represented by the Draymen's Assn. and the California Trucking Assn. But it spread quickly to companies which haul their own goods.

MORE TONIGHT

Lightning Stages Fiery Sky Show

Crashing thunder, brilliant lightning and splashes of rain here and there awakened Marinites early today and knocked out power transformers at a number of points.

Be warned — there may well be a repeat performance tonight, the weatherman said today.

Most of the power failures in Marin occurred from Greenbrae south, starting around 1:13 a.m. and with greatest trouble in parts of Sausalito and the Tam Valley-Mill Valley area until 2 a.m., though in a few instances the repairmen were busy into daylight.

Corte Madera and Larkspur were also affected, a spokesman for Pacific Gas and Electric Co. reported.

The Corte Madera Fire Department was called at 2 a.m. today to put out a fire of a wood transformer pole on Meadowsweet drive near the Circle drive-in. The combination of first rain of the season plus collected dust on the transformer started the fire, according to a fire department spokesman.

SUBSTATION HIT

A power sub-station at Sausalito was hit by lightning and a transformer suffered damage. Service was interrupted for about 200 residents of the southern part of the city until the load could be picked up by another Sausalito sub-station which shares this area, but most of the service was restored by 3:24 a.m., it was reported.

There was a 47-minute interruption in Tam Valley and parts of the southern Mill Valley area, stretching back into the hills toward the coast highway. This began at 1:13 a.m., and lasted until 2 a.m.

Siren blasts from the Mill Valley fire department at 1:30 a.m. caused fears that some home might have been hit by lightning.

STARTS GRASS FIRE

This turned out to be only a grass fire with no damage near Alta Vista and Mesa avenues. Lightning was blamed.

Various small sections from Greenbrae south suffered power interruptions due to transformer trouble. In a few cases not corrected until 9 a.m.

Rainfall reports were numerous, but actual recorded rainfall was extremely spotty.

But .05-inch was recorded in San Rafael at the city hall, though nearby fire department observers in San Anselmo found no precipitation. This was the first rainfall in San Rafael during the period since July 1 and it compared with .02 inch by this date last year.

Fourth Street Light Work Set Tomorrow

San Rafael's Fourth street between B and D streets will be closed to traffic tomorrow from 6:30 a.m. to mid-afternoon while street lights are being replaced, according to Norris Rawles, city public works director.

Lights on Fourth between B street and Lootens place will be replaced on the following Sunday, and that section of Fourth street will be closed for the same period of the day.

On the third Sunday, Aug. 23, lights on Fourth between Lootens and Tamalpais avenue will be replaced, and Fourth street in that area will be closed for the same period of the day.

Sundays were selected for the work to keep interference with traffic and shopping to a minimum, Rawles said. The work involves completely replacing lights and standards. The new lights are 62,000-lumen lights similar to those now on Fourth street between D and E streets.

Teen-Ager Denies He Is Killer

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Alex Robillard, 19, wanted in the slaying of a Hillsborough policeman Wednesday, was arrested early today in his bed in a local hotel.

Robillard denied shooting officer Eugene Doran but told police he had the .32 caliber revolver that was used in the slaying.

Detective Bernard Valgardson, who arrested Robillard, said the suspect told him another man killed Doran. He refused to name the other man.

HAD WEAPON

Valgardson said Robillard had the murder weapon, a .32 caliber revolver, in his possession, and told detectives he had stolen it from "a very wealthy man in San Francisco — a multi-millionaire."

Robillard was picked up in the hotel early today, shortly after he had gotten off a bus from Reno, Nev.

Valgardson said it was his understanding that Robillard had waived extradition and would probably be returned to California tonight.

Police here had been tipped that the suspect was en route to Utah's capital city by the San Mateo County sheriff's office.

CLIMAXED HUNT

The arrest of the San Mateo and Redding youth climaxed a short but intensive search following the slaying of the Hillsborough officer who would have been 37 years old today.

Robillard was picked up shortly after he registered with an alias in the Upland Hotel here.

Robillard offered no resistance when he ws captured. Detectives entered the man's room while he was in bed. When he looked up, he was surrounded by officers.

U.S. Working On Long-Range Missile Launching Detector

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new radar device to spy across oceans and give a quick report on ballistic missile launchings is being developed, the U.S. Navy says.

The radar also could be used as one means of uncovering weapons in violation of any international agreement.

Dr. William J. Thaler of the Office of Naval Research and "father" of the new radar setup called Project Tepee, said last night:

"I would hope you could double the warning time."

This would mean that the United States would have almost 30 minutes instead of 15 minutes — possible under the U.S. system now being built—in which to launch counter-weapons. Military men figure it would take about 30 minutes for a missile fired in the Soviet Union to reach the United States.

Thaler, 33, talked to newsmen about the project. Asked if the Navy had tested the device against Soviet ICBM testing launchings, he replied "no."

Trials with the device, which he said is still in the early "breadboard" developmental stage, have worked at what amount to inter-continental ranges—5,500 miles.

Thaler said the device is located at an undisclosed place in continental United States and picked up the ballistic missile-nuclear explosive tests made last summer in Project Argus in the South Atlantic and the Johnston Island tests in the Pacific.

However, the New York Times said today that several stations are now in operation, adding: "The number and locations of these stations are secret."

"Soviet missile and satellite firings have been monitored for the last several months from locations within the boundaries of the continental United States."

The newspaper also said:

"The system can also determine the location of missile-

TWO BROKEN RIBS

Injured Man Trapped In His Wrecked Car

A Greenbrae man was trapped in his car nearly an hour last night after it rolled down an embankment near his home in the Bon Air Apartments.

Alex Tamkin, 36, of 30 Corte del Norte was pinned in the open window of the small foreign-made car.

He lay in pain with two broken ribs as rescuers worked to lift the car with a wrecker hoist. Taken to Marin General Hospital, he was listed today in "good" condition.

Larkspur Police Capt. Louis A. Volk said Tamkin apparently lost control of the car as he drove up Via Hidalgo about 8:30 p.m.

The car turned over as it rolled down a 30-foot bank.

Two rigs from Larkspur Fire Department stood by while the car was being lifted in case of fire from leaking gasoline. A large crowd of onlookers gathered at the scene.

Tamkin, a cashier at Fifth and Mission Parking in San Francisco, was on vacation this week, his wife said.

Work Of 125 Bay Artists Displayed At Sausalito's Outdoor Festival

Work of 125 Bay area artists was on display today as Sausalito's fifth annual Outdoor Art Festival got under way at a new location — the municipal parking lot at the foot of El Portal street. The exhibit continues through tomorrow.

"We've had a near miss from the rain that plagued us before," said Henry T. Malcheski, chairman of the Sausalito Arts Festival Committee, today. "This morning I was worried but the asphalt is dry and now I think all will be well. We'll run until nightfall both tonight and tomorrow."

Admission is free and space proved ample for both exhibitors and spectators. Last year's show was attended by around 25,000 persons.

Another Sausalito outdoor attraction for the weekend was being staged as a carnival put on by the houseboat colony featuring a "Voodoo-Do" variety show, with a dollar admission charge and proceeds going to help out on the ark-owner's fight against eviction.

The Sausalito Preservation Assn., with David X. Lee as chairman, was putting on this affair at the Gate 3 area of Marinship at the opposite end of town from the art show. Outdoor entertainment was under way from noon today, with dancing tonight and a 10 a.m. 6 p.m. entertainment and dancing tomorrow.

Phyllis Diller, night club entertainer, heads a variety show tomorrow starting at 2 p.m. Folk singers, a jazz band, bagpipe players and Marinao Cordoba's flamenco dancers are to take part.

Sausalito also has summer theater this weekend both tonight and tomorrow at two locations, with all performances starting at 8:30 p.m.

"The Drunkard", a melodrama complete with olio acts, is on at the Sausalito Little Theater, while the Gate Playhouse has a musical, "On the Town," playing.

Strike Could Be Felt In This County

Marin County may be affected next week by the teamster strike if it continues that long in San Francisco and San Mateo counties, but only on hauls out of those areas, and then probably subject to special relief action before long.

This was the opinion of Marin shippers today. They expressed hope that the labor flare-up would be quenched before it could start to burn Marin fingers.

"All we can do is sit tight over the weekend and maybe things will be brought to an end by Monday," said Al Grazzano, San Rafael manager of United Markets which draws supplies from San Francisco warehouses.

"This caught us without much warning, coming up on the weekend this way, and the only thing to do for the moment is to hope for an early solution," Grazzano said.

"What may happen is that there could be a temporary tie-up of deliveries here out of San Francisco, followed by release by special permits which would guarantee that deliveries weren't within San Francisco or San Mateo counties."

Copper Strike Looms

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The nation's metal production, dented by the 25-day-old steel strike, faced new curtailments today with 8,300 copper workers poised for a walkout unless contract demands are met by Monday.

AIRMAN MISSING

Marin Parents Cling To Hope Son Alive

The Kentfield parents of a 20-year-old airman, missing since Tuesday when his plane was ditched in the Atlantic Ocean, clung to hopes today that a massive sea-air search would find their son alive.

Missing is Thomas Michael Payton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Payton of 1115 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, Kentfield.

The young man was a member of the crew of a giant six-engined KB50 tanker plane that ditched Tuesday afternoon 480 miles south of Bermuda.

The seven other crew members were rescued by a Panamanian tanker near which the plane went down.

Young Payton has a wife and two small sons in Virginia, where he was stationed at Langley Air Force Base. He is a graduate of Palo Alto High School. His wife, the former Beverly Ann Cochrane, is from Menlo Park.

Payton, who has been in the Air Force three years, was returning to Langley after a tour of several weeks in the Azores when the ditching occurred.

His father said he was told the crash took place in the relatively warm waters of the Gulf Stream and that there is a good chance for survival in the water up to seven days.

Payton said that although the rear part of the plane—where his son rode as the refueling boom operator — broke off in the landing, another airman riding in the same section had been rescued alive.

He said he and Mrs. Payton still hold the hope their son had been able to get into a life raft.

A language barrier may have prevented the youth from being rescued, the father was told.

Sailors on the Panamanian tanker Imperial St. Lawrence spoke no English and didn't understand when they picked up the seven airmen that an eighth was still missing.

Whitakers Hosting A Family Reunion

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

It's been a full week for the Clem Whitakers of Kent Woodlands who are hosting a family reunion and entertaining several other guests. Leone Whitaker's brother, Jamie Smith, chief deputy assessor of Siskiyou County, his wife and daughter, Susan, are here from Yreka. Leone's sister, Mrs. George Baxter, her husband and daughter, Sharon, arrived last weekend from their home in Kelso, Wash. Sharon flew down with her chum, Janet McDonald, also of Kelso and it was an exciting experience for the two 15-year-olds. Leone's other sister, Mrs. Frank Alden Smith of Berkeley and daughters, Linda and Victoria, have joined the family group. Also over from Berkeley is another relative, Mrs. Eleanor Sabo. Other guests of the Whitakers are John Morris of New York, vice president of the advertising firm of Benton and Bowles, and John Ragsdale, advertising manager of the American Associations of Railroads, Washington, D. C.

Wednesday night the Whitakers gave a dinner party for their guests at the Fairmont Hotel. Last night they entertained at a theater party when they and their guests saw "Oklahoma" at the Curran and tonight they are going to the "Ice Follies."

Incidentally, there was a splendid article in the July issue of Harper's Magazine on Clem and Leone, heads of the widely known public relations firm of Whitaker and Baxter.

A MONTH'S VACATION in Hawaii was enjoyed by Mrs. Robert O. Cole of Ross and her three children, Naomi, George and Robbie who stayed at Waikiki. They made the trip over and back by air.

SAILING on the "Matsonia" on Aug. 22 for Honolulu are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Aaron of San Rafael and their daughters, Deena and Susan. They'll vacation for two weeks, staying at the Halekulani.

TAHOE continues to be a popular vacation place. As has been their custom since their two daughters were small, the Charles Rosenbaums of San Rafael have taken a summer place at Brockway. Their daughters, Carla and Leta, have returned home for brief stays.

The Lewis Dentons of Ross enjoyed a long weekend with their friends, the Theodore Schmids of San Francisco, who have taken a house at The Dunes.

The Russell Johnsons of Kent Koodlands are staying at the Brockway place of his mother, Mrs. Otis Johnson. The James Browns of San Rafael are visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Cabot Brown at their place near Tahoe City.

ABOARD the Holland-America's "S.S. Diemerdyk" Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kaldor of Greenbrae with their children, Andrea and Ronald, are sailing tomorrow for Vancouver, B.C. They are shipping their car and will drive from Vancouver to Lake Louise and Banff and then will drive home.

This will be the last family trip for some time as Andrea, who was graduated in June from Redwood High School, will leave soon for Boulder, Colorado. Ron will be a sophomore at Redwood High.

GOOD NEWS for relatives and friends of Dr. and Mrs. Virgil Salera (June DeLancey) is the young couple is returning to the Bay Area. Dr. Salera, senior economist of the American Enterprise Association in Washington, D.C., is resigning the post to become head of the business and economics division at Alameda State College. The Saleras, who have a son, John, have been living at Chevy Chase near Washington. Mrs. Salera is the niece of Mrs. Russell C. Westover of Ross and Dr. Chester A. DeLancey of San Rafael.

IT WAS 'ALOHA' to "Princess Papaya" at a luau laguni held in their honor at three Belvedere Lagoon homes Saturday night. The royal couple, better known as Helen and Alan Bartholemy, with their children Alan, Jr. and Jan are leaving Belvedere Island and will move to Sacramento where he is associated with Aero-jet.

Guests "boarded" the "Lurline" at the Ralph Dewey home where they were served punch and Polynesian hors d'oeuvres. From there they "sailed" across the Lagoon to dock at the island of Wali-Bali (home of the Joseph Wallaces) for the main course, picturesquely described in the menu as chicken ah fui. Final stop was at the island of Nohuhu (the David Allens') for fresh pineapple dessert and an evening of dancing.

Costumes were much in evidence with Paul Huntzinger as Bloody Mary voted "the belle of the ball."

A PRE-NUPTIAL EVENT will be the luncheon and kitchen shower Mrs. H. Wallace Hickman and her daughter, Mrs. Herbert West (Jan Hickman) are giving a week from today at the Hickman home in Ross. Guest of honor will be Ann Baumgartner, who will become the bride of Richard Morris at Mission San Juan Bautista. Jan will be matron of honor at the late afternoon ceremony. She and Ann were classmates at Dominican. The wedding reception will be at the home of Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Baumgartner in San Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickman returned on Monday from a vacation in the north. They flew to Vancouver, B.C. and traveled by train to Jasper National Park where they spent a week.

AT THE SAN RAFAEL home of Mrs. Peter Cazassa, she and Mrs. Ralph Holchester entertained at a luncheon for a group of friends on Wednesday.

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU

To follow up the last two weeks on skin care; here are a few nevers to remember: never scrub face with cloth — use a complexion brush or massage with fingers . . . never leave a film of soap on the face . . . never rinse with a washcloth — catch water in hands and splash it on . . . never use extreme hot or cold as it is liable to rupture tiny blood vessels . . . never rub face dry—always pat. . . .

Pistol Packer Jailed After Waving Gun

An argumentative man wearing a .22-caliber pistol strapped to his leg "western style" was booked Thursday night at the county jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, disturbing peace and being drunk.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Robert Vance Greer, 36, of Bobo's Trailer Court, Novato, at a Novato tavern after a patron reported Greer pulled the gun out of its holster and waved it.

Greer, who was booked at 7:45 p.m., had been in and out of the bar and had been ejected once, sheriff's deputies learned from bartender William Conklin.

Officers said he had been arguing with T/Sgt. John Sharp, 32, of Hamilton Air Force Base, and that Sharp had told Greer "to knock it off." Greer left the tavern and returned with the gun and an ammunition belt containing bullets, officers said. The gun itself was not loaded.

When he pulled the gun, several patrons overpowered him. One hit him over the head with a beer bottle.

Gallinas Plant Back In Operation

Operation of the primary stage of the Gallinas Village Community Services District sewage treatment plant resumed yesterday after rejuvenation of equipment, with the prospect that a full plant will be operating again soon after mid-August.

New elements of the plant, including the aerator unit, will be installed as soon as they arrive from the east, but officials said the steel strike has upset delivery schedules.

MARIN MAID — Sanda Lee Lazzari of Novato will represent Marin County in the Maid of California pageant at the California State Fair in Sacramento. The winner will reign over the first several days of the fair which will open Sept. 2. Beauties from all over the state will compete for the honor.

Raphael Village Housewife Tells Of Being Attacked

A Raphael Village housewife early yesterday told sheriff's deputies she was taken to a creek-bed behind an Ignacio tavern and raped.

She talked to deputies at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital, where she was taken for treatment for bruises and a wound on the back of her head. She said she did not know the name of her alleged assailant.

Deputies said they were told by a bartender that the woman had appeared earlier at the tavern with two small children, then went to another bar, where the bartender sent the children home in a taxi.

Court Repays Youth For Good Conduct

A Kentfield youth, charged last fall with damaging several lawns in Marinwood, Thursday was granted termination of his probationary period and his record was expunged.

The action, in favor of Alfred Max Hausle, 20, of 104 Estelle avenue, Kentfield, was taken by Municipal Court Judge Harold J. Haley.

Hausle's motion was supported by Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold F. Wolters, who said the youth, arrested last October when he was 19, had shown "good conduct."

Hausle was a passenger in a car driven by Michael David Farnham, 18, of Glenwood avenue, Ross. Both were placed on three years probation and fined.

Wolters said Hausle had "more than lived up to terms of his probation" in making restitution.

STATE YANKS LICENSES AT 71 A DAY CLIP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Department of Motor Vehicles is yanking away drivers licenses from first offense drunk drivers at the rate of 71 a day.

Motor vehicle director Robert McCarthy said 328 motorists have lost their licenses for six months since his crackdown began July 1.

McCarthy said 286 first offenders had their driving privileges suspended in the first four days of August, and 42 suspensions were ordered during July.

First offenders arrested and convicted after July 1 face mandatory six-months suspension of their licenses.

Tully Turns In Badge, Quits Lineup TV Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tom Tully has turned in his San Francisco police badge and cashed out for $50,000.

The gruff, able actor no longer will be ferreting out hoods on "The Line-Up," the CBS crime series.

"I didn't like the new setup," he said. "They wanted to put me and Warner Anderson in supporting roles. After five years as stars of the show I didn't think this was right. I had no objection to using the new people, if it was handled intelligently. But they were killing the whole idea of the show."

"The Line-Up" ran into trouble last season from the fast-moving "77 Sunset Strip," an hour-long whodunit that opposed the Tully-Anderson sleuthing in many time zones. CBS decided to fight fire with fire and expanded "The Line-Up" to an hour for the fall.

SHIFTING LOCALE

"I didn't want to go on an hour show unless it was done in big style," Tully added. "I suggested moving the locale to different parts of the country. One story could show Anderson in Washington, D. C., working with the FBI while I was pursuing the same case at the home base, San Francisco. Or I'd be in Boston and he'd be in San Francisco.

"They seemed to like my idea, and the authorities in the other cities offered their support. But then the network fell for some poll taken in the East. The poll said that we couldn't compete with '77 Sunset Strip' unless we got some juvenile leads.

"After five years as star, I wasn't going to be carrying papers in the background. I told them 'No, thanks; I'll quit while I'm ahead.'"

SETTLED CONTRACT

So he settled his contract for 50 grand. He still retains 25 per cent of the 183 half-hour shows that he made.

"Sure, I'm passing up some security by leaving the show," Tully commented. "But when a man loses faith in his own ability as an actor, that's when he should quit and go into the real estate business or something."

Tully is going to do "Death of a Salesman" in summer stock in northern California and would like to return to Broadway. He hasn't been back since 1943.

Highest Officer Of Red Men To Visit Here

For the first time since the chapter was organized in 1940, Marin's Tamal Tribe 288, Improved Order of Red Men, will be honored by a visit from the order's Great Incohonee (highest officer of the order) next Friday night.

The Great Inconohee, James O. Archer of Ohio, will make an official visit to the Marin tribe, with members of other tribes from Vallejo, Benicia, Napa, St. Helena, Fairfield, Concord, Richmond, Oakland and San Francisco also in attendance.

A large class of new members will be initiated during the evening affair, which will be held at Portuguese-American Hall, 820 B street, San Rafael.

Tamal Tribe's Sachem George W. Hall Jr., has coordinated arrangements. William F. Farrenkopf of Kentfield, past Great Incohonee, will take part.

Convict Serving Robbery Terms Asks Court Writ

A San Quentin Prison inmate, serving time for first degree robbery, yesterday filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Marin Superior Court, alleging he is being illegally detained at the prison by Warden Fred R. Dickson.

Warren Paul Beghtel also alleged that he had been denied a speedy trial and that judge in his non-jury trial was "opinionated."

Prison officials said Beghtel, 28, of Los Angeles, first went to prison in January, 1955, after conviction for first degree robbery. He was released on parole in July, 1957, and was returned to prison in March, 1958, on the same charge. The sentences, running concurrently, are for five years to life.

West Marin Unit To Elect Board

West Marin Property Owners Assn. is expected to elect its first board of directors at a meeting in the West Marin School at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The group is also expected to discuss its next moves in opposition to the proposal to make a national park and seashore recreation area at Pt. Reyes. The proposal is viewed by members of the association as a threat to the dairy industry in the area.

Highway Fund Snarl Proves Federal Control Not Answer

Advocates of turning all jobs of government over to federal officials and by-passing local and state agencies should look closely at the present state highway situation.

Last Wednesday the state director of public works was forced to issue orders discontinuing all advertising for bids for new highway work in the state. The reason: matching federal funds for the interstate highway program are no longer available unless Congress gets busy quickly and appropriates some more.

This all sounds far removed from Marin. But it certainly isn't. The State Division of Highways was about ready to advertise for bids on the completion of the Greenbrae interchange, on improvements to the San Pedro Road-Highway 101 intersection, on the cloverleaf for the Terra Linda entrance, and on the planting of redwoods and other landscaping from Richardson Bay to Corte Madera.

All of these projects have now been stopped in their tracks. None of them are involved with federal money. None of them are on a federal highway. But because back in Washington legislators are involved in a lengthy debate as to whether or not more money should be poured into the federal highway program, work stops on projects here in Marin and elsewhere in the state.

Up until recently, California has been building the finest highway system in the nation with only nominal federal help. We've put up our own funds in the form of gas taxes, and even avoided the toll roads, now so prevalent in the East.

Then we entered into the massive federal highway program and budgeted our highway construction program to include the federal revenues. Now when federal money isn't forthcoming, we have to stop everything that isn't contracted already. Not just the federal highway jobs, all projects. Those already under contract will go ahead whether they are federal or not.

This is a sample of what can happen when control of local activities gets too far away from the people most concerned.

It is a cogent argument for those who oppose centralization of power back in Washington.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

THREE WAYS TO INSPIRE CHILDREN

1. TREAT EACH CHILD AS AN INDIVIDUAL—God gives slightly different talents and personalities to every child he sends into the world.

Though it may take years to find out the particular qualities buried in every boy and girl, the search is worth every effort.

2. ENCOURAGE THEIR DESIRE TO CONTRIBUTE—Every child has a basic desire to be useful and constructive. Though this is part of his God-given nature, a youngster's better impulses are often offset by human weaknesses. Each one, therefore, needs unending encouragement and sympathetic guidance to lead a worthwhile life.

3. HELP THEM TO THINK AND ACT FOR THEMSELVES — The creative side of children is almost limitless. Avoid the danger of nipping in the bud a young person's natural instinct to be reasonably self-reliant.

Too much independence too soon, of course, can hurt children. But it may be even more damaging to regiment their every move.

"A young man according to his way, even when he is old he will not depart from it." (Proverbs 22:6)

Keep us reminded, O Lord, that You have given a distinct individuality to every child.

What Ark Has Ehlen Visited?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Sausalito City Attorney John Ehlen's communication castigating reporter Dorothy Slattery's article on waterfront living in our town has caused much conjecture up and down the water front as to whose dwelling Mr. Ehlen has ever visited.

Miss Slattery's warm-hearted story does sound prejudiced in favor of the waterfronters — but everyone I know who has had the privilege of being a guest in one of these ingenious homes has fallen under the spell of dwelling and dwellers alike.

Mr. Ehlen has been reported investigating the William Loughborough home in Marinship . . ., indulging in toilet flushing . . . Anyway, it was probably the Loughborough's home that Mr. Ehlen spoke of with such familiarity — none other seems possible.

If this be so, if the Loughborough home is considered by Ehlen to be unfit for human habitation, may the good Lord keep him from MY door!

Socrates Wasn't Little Leaguer

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your worthy commentator Richmond Barbour — "The Parents' Corner" always has some worthwhile thought in the rearing of children in our difficult society. He KNOWS as he has children of his own!

His latest comment — "Better Not To Force Son To Play In Little League If He Refuses" has a great deal of philosophical worth.

Boys — as they grow-up, develop many other interests — otherwise how would we have such intellects as produced by the University of California and Stanford—and some cousins in the southern part of our state! They never had to join the 'Little League.' But — many made the big league in the art of thinking and some branches of our economic development, not to mention scientific achievement.

I speak from experience. Am blessed with one son whose life is influenced by healthful sports — basketball, baseball, etc. He is a leader in the 'Little League' — and coaches many a game in the local field. This is his method of spending a few idle hours now and then. I have another son — hell-bent upon catching the trout or the salmon with the latest gear, or trapping some animal of the wilderness. Both sports have their worth.

But — as brother Richmond says — do not force the issue. Every child grows with certain 'inclinations' early in life. If these inclinations are in the sphere of 'healthful interest,' geared to the physical capabilities of the boy, then there is nothing to worry about!

After all, your son may even make the big league — without batting an eyelash! Just remember — Socrates never belonged to a 'Little League'!

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By DONALD G. DAVIS

There's Nothing Like A Beach Supper On A Hot Night—Mmm, Marvelous

At the end of one very warm day recently, we had supper at the beach.

Leaving the hot upper end of Ross Valley and arriving at overcast, foggy Shell Beach in Tomales Bay State Park, was rougly equivalent to leaving the Rhine Valley in the middle of June and arriving in Iceland.

"We're going to the beach for supper," my wife said blithely, wiping perspiration from her brow. And forthwith a basket was forced into my hand, a child into my arm, and we were off.

"THIS IS MADNESS," I said as we drove out Sir Francis Drake boulevard. "There very likely will be an iceberg at Shell Beach, and it's again the law to build fires — even to keep warm."

"What folly," I exclaimed as we reached Olema. "Just look ahead. The fog's rolling in. We won't even be able to see the water at 20 paces."

"Mush," said my wife, "and don't jolt the car, there's half a watermelon in the basket."

A FEW MINUTES later, shivvering and complaining, after having picked out a small boy who became entangled in a vine along a path, we arrived at the beach.

Billows of fog poured around us. There wasn't another soul in sight.

"Watch the children," said my wife, and forthwith she plunked herself down on a blanket and cracked open a boiled egg. She also wrapped several layers of sweaters around her and peered into the mist. "Mmmmm, marvelous," said she.

"I just remembered," I said, "There are sharks in these waters. I think I see a dangerous fin. Let's go home."

"That's not a fin," she said, "that's a child getting into the water. Go fetch." She offered me a peeled egg, and it fell to the sand.

I dusted it off, put it to my mouth, but at that point a child bumped me, and the egg fell again. I kicked some sand over it.

"DON'T WASTE food," my wife said.

I ate the egg, then picked a child from the surf, choking down sand. I dusted off the child, fetched it an egg, took another child away from the watermelon which already looked like a finger painting.

"Are there snakes here, papa?" asked a boy.

"Yes, indeed, there are," I said. "And sharks, and fog and . . ."

"Mmmmm, marvelous," said my wife. "Isn't this fun?"

I ran after a child and got my feet wet for my trouble. I blew on my knuckles to keep my hands warm, and stamped up and down to keep the circulation going in my legs.

AT LENGTH, it began to get dark, and we groped our way up the path to the car. Then at home, I dusted sand, and dusted sand, from me, from the car and from the children. I threw a sand-encrusted melon into the garbage can.

And an hour later, with the children in bed, and my cracking open the last of the eggs for a snack, I made myself a hot cup of coffee.

"Mmmmm, marvelous," said I.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Already Decisions You Must Make In November 1960 Are Piling Up

By CHAPIN A. DAY

You won't have to make up your minds about them until a year from November, but it's not too early to become aware of a dozen measures which will be on your ballot. Keep your ears open for facts about them.

Major one, of course, will be the one billion 750 million dollar state water bond issue. You'll be hearing lots about that from now on.

Giving them the numbers they carried during the legislative session (their ballot numbers will be different) here are the other ones:

ACA 5—Would give back the right to vote to felons who have served all their time and probation for the crime.

ACA 15 — Increases two-year terms for Assemblymen to four years.

ACA 16—Allows the Legislature to legislate about claims against charter cities and counties.

ACA 21—Would permit a paraplegic veteran who sells a house on which he was granted tax exemption, to extend that exemption to another house if it is purchased immediately.

ACA 29 — Requires assessors to consider only the recreational value of land used for non-profit golf courses, rather than its full potential as residential property.

SCA 1—Permits cities and counties to use gas funds to pay off grade crossing bonds.

SCA 11—Permits appeals of cases tried in municipal or justice courts directly to the district court of appeals.

SCA 13—Same as ACA 21 but also limits the $1,000 property tax exemption for veterans to those who were residents of California when they entered service, and has added benefits for war widows, parents or widowers.

SCA 14—Establishes a Judicial Council.

SCA 22—Eliminates obsolete language in the constitution.

SCA 31—Increases the salaries of both Assemblymen and Senators from $500 to $750 per month.

SB 1484 — Alters chiropodist licensing board.

There will probably be a number of others, possibly an initiative or two, before the ballots are finally printed. But that bunch will give you something to start thinking about.

LAST WEEK we reported here that Supervisor Vera Schultz has definitely removed herself as a possible Democratic candidate for retiring Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister's job. The item led, so we are told, to a conversation which went something like this:

William T. Bagley, himself often mentioned (without denial) as a Republican hopeful for the job: "I don't believe it. I think she is just getting into a position so she can succumb reluctantly to a 'draft.'"

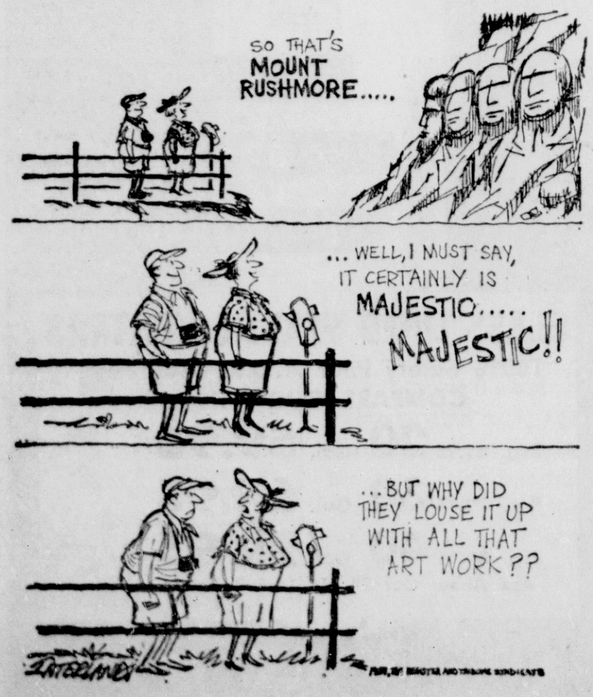

County Clerk George Jones: "If she does succumb, I'll change my registration to Democratic and run against her myself."

THAT would be something!

LATEST TOTAL we've seen on participation by members of Congress shows that Marinite Clement W. Miller is at least around and voting when the roll is called.

Up through 85 roll calls to mid-June, Miller had voted every time. He was one of 115 in the House to have a perfect record. Four of the others were from California too.

BUT THEY'RE UNINFORMED

Electorate Aroused On Labor Reform Bill

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One thing is sure. The electorate is aroused about the pending labor reform bill. This is not to say that it is informed.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee, went on Jack Paar's TV show recently and told late night viewers the bill ought to be passed and to write their congressmen about it.

That's what they've been doing, too. But members of the senate, which passed the bill long ago by a vote of 90 to 1, are beginning to wish Kennedy had been more specific.

It's the House of Representatives that hasn't yet voted aye.

Even Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Bob's brother and co-sponsor of the Senate bill, has been flooded with mail. Some of it commands him sternly to vote for his bill.

The senator feels that some of the letter writers might have been a little more tactful. These are the ones who are demanding a vote for "Sen. Bob Kennedy's bill."

OTHER SENATORS have been hearing about it, too, counting their mixed-up mail in the thousands.

House members, of course, are getting their share of letters. And everybody says they are going to do something about it.

The House Labor Committee, which approved a modified version of the bill two weeks ago, finally has got out its formal report to the House This of course is where House members learn what's in the bill.

The question, though, is which part of the report should they read? Although the committee voted for the bill 16 to 14, only five of the 30 members now come right out and admit that they like it.

IN ADDITION to a nonpartisan, non-controversial and reasonably enlightening analysis of the measure prepared by a staff member, the report includes a "statement," an "additional statement," and "additional dissenting, and separate" views, with some members signing more than one of the total of 10. The whole thing is so perplexing committee clerks felt it wise to index the 106-page volume.

After approving the bill at a closed session, committee members jostled each other hurrying to the press gallery to explain why they weren't for it. Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.), who voted aye, said the bill was no good and refused to give it his name.

Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) voted against it because it was anti-union. Rep. Carroll D. Kearns (R-Pa.) voted against it because it was pro-union.

Rep. Carl D. Perkins (D-Ky.) said the bill "has many good provisions." He voted against it.

Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr., (R-N.J.) called it "woefully inadequate." He voted for it.

So if Jack Paar's public is confused, who is to blame them? Certainly not Sen. Kennedy. He's getting inured to confusion.

Have you ever longed to see with your own eyes the famous Indian rope trick? You never will, insists Will Dexter, in "This Is Magic," because it can't be done. An English millionaire had a standing offer of 5,000 pounds for anybody who could perform the fabled illusion, and agents of the Prince of Wales scoured India in search of a magician who could oblige — but people who claimed to have seen the trick never could remember where or when! The myth goes back to an Indian legend written 500 years ago.

Governors Think More Visits By Russian Officials Would Be Good

SAN JUAN, P.R. — The nine-member executive committee of the U.S. Governors, who have just reported to President Eisenhower on their own tour of Russia, are arranging to invite the Prime Ministers of the 16 Soviet republics to attend and take part in the 1960 Governors' Conference.

It is evident that the governors strongly endorse the imminent exchange of visits between Premier Khrushchev and President Eisenhower, but they believe this burgeoning East-West exchange needs to include officials from all levels of government.

The plan now is to send invitations from the American governors to Soviet "governors" who are the chief executive officers of the Soviet Republics and with all of whom Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey, Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, and their colleagues, conferred at length last month.

THE FORMAL action to extend these invitations will either be taken by the governors at their session here or left to the executive committee to work out.

The governors are discussing this project with representatives of the State Department and the White House as they did before they under took their own trip this summer. In the wake of the Khrushchev - Eisenhower exchange, there is no doubt that Washington will approve.

The intention is that attendance at the next Governors' Conference shall be only a part of the hospitality to be arranged for the top officials of the Soviet Republics many of whom will be the political leaders of the Soviet Union in years to come. What the inviting governors have in mind is:

A VISIT BY the prime ministers, either as a group or separately, to as many states as possible and at least to all sections of the country.

A full day's participation at the 1960 Governors' Conference during which there would be a joint discussion of common problems — housing, health, old age care, etc.

An invitation to attend as observers both the Democratic and Republican nominating conventions so they may see how a democracy picks its presidential candidates.

This plan reflects the intention of the Governors' executive committee to implement their own appeal to the President that "a greatly expanded program of exchange visits, particularly at the middle and local levels of government, would be highly desirable."

IN HIS ADDRESS as chairman, Gov. Collins told the conference that "what the Soviets do and what we do toward relieving the anxieties (of the cold war) and assisting aspirations around the world will determine whether the world community successfully meets the challenges or survival. . . . The states must be partners and co-workers in this common undertaking if we are to succeed."

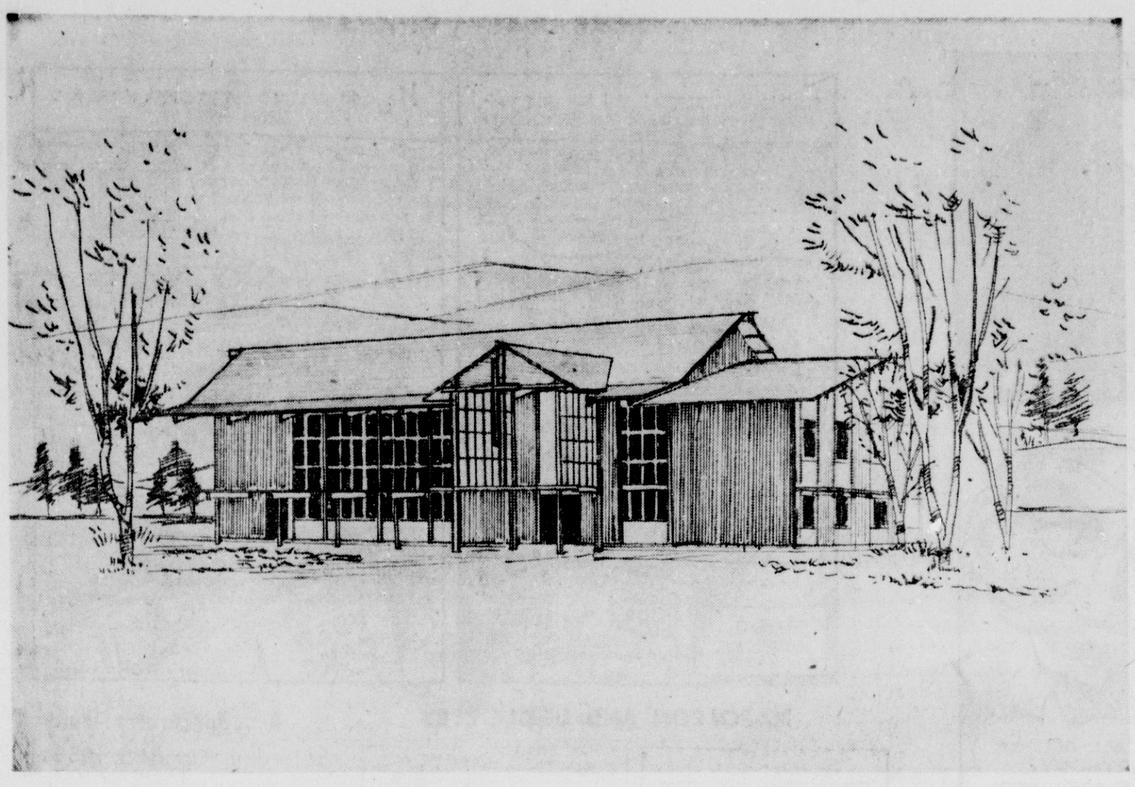

The reports which the governors made to their colleagues on what they found in Russia were realistic. While they noted the gap between the friendly sentiment of the Soviet people and the policies of the Kremlin, they were impressed by the "reservoir of goodwill" they found on every hand.

They believe that an early visit to the U.S. of their Soviet counterparts would carry forward whatever gains might be made as a result of the Kozlov-Nixon and Khrushchev Eisenhower visits this year.

ON RICHARDSON BAY—This is what the new Westminster Presbyterian Church chapel building, to be constructed on Richardson Bay, will look like when completed. Also to be erected on the Bel Aire site is a second building housing Sunday school classrooms. Bids have been invited on the project.

Westminster Church Invites Building Bids

Bids have been invited on two buildings to be erected on the Bel Aire site of Westminster Presbyterian Church of Richardson Bay.

One will house a two-story chapel, as well as church offices, Christian education facilities and social rooms. The other building will consist of three large Sunday School classrooms.

The chapel building on Tiburon boulevard will have a rich exterior achieved by combining wood, plaster and stained glass. The lofty chapel will accommodate 90 on the ground floor, with a balcony holding the organist and choir. An additional 80 person will be able to attend worship services because of an adjacent parlor separated from the chapel by a sliding screen.

These initial buildings will be followed in a few years by further constructions, including a full sanctuary, according to Vernon Libby, elder and chairman of the church's building committee. Entrance to the future sanctuary will coincide at right angles with that of the chapel building and a handsome pergola is planned for this area.

Plans call for courts and patios landscaped in the Marin manner, with planting along Tiburon boulevard and the creation of vistas toward the Lagoon. Parking area will accommodate 75 automobiles.

Bids will be received by architects Hardison, Clausen and Komatsu, 160 Broadway, Richmond. The firm has been responsible for many other church plants in Northern California, including the Two Rock Church near Petaluma, the First Presbyterian churches in Walnut Creek and in Richmond and the Mira Vista Congregational Church in El Cerrito.

The Westminster chapel, Hardison said, will be contemporary in style but will reflect certain traditional features characteristic of ecclesiastical buildings.

Congregationalists Planning To Serve Belvedere-Tiburon

Dr. Benton S. Gaskell, recently instructed to organize a Congregational Church in the Belvedere-Tiburon area, will meet informally with residents of the community at the Southern Marin Recreation Center tomorrow from 10:30 a.m. to noon. The meeting is open to all who are interested.

A building site for the new church has been purchased by the Congregational Churches. It consists of a six-acre tract on a knoll above Hawthorne Terrace overlooking Richardson Bay.

The church has been assigned to serve the area by the Northern California - Nevada Council of Churches.

At present there are 114 Congregational Churches in the Northern California Conference.

Dr. Gaskell is a member of the executive committee of the General Council of Congregational Churches, and was moderator of the Northern California Congregational Conference in 1955.

Taylor Park Services Held Each Sunday

The Marin County Council of Churches, as part of a stepped-up summer program, has initiated early morning worship services at 9 a.m. each Sunday at the Samuel P. Taylor State Park.

Late rising campers are aroused from their sleeping bags by organ music preceding the service.

The organ was purchased by the Council of Churches for use in the park during the summers and for Easter sunrise services and other meetings. It will also be loaned to churches in need of an organ.

Tomorrow Dr. R .A. McGinnis, a layman of the San Rafael Methodist Church, will lead the devotions and bring the morning message.

The Council of Churches and the United Church Women are also providing a chaplain for the county's juvenile hall. Lowell King, a San Francisco Theological Seminary student at San Anselmo, was chosen for the position. His salary is met with donations from the churches and private contributions received by Mrs. J. L. Wilkinson, P. O. Pox 39, Lagunitas, the Council of Churches treasurer.

Witnesses Attend San Jose Assembly

More than 100 members of Marin congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses are attending an "Awake, Ministers" district assembly at the Santa Clara County fairgrounds in San Jose, according to Donald Hull, San Rafael minister. The assembly opened Thursday and continues through tomorrow .

Novato Walther League Hosts Three Visiting College Students

Three college students, members of a youth caravan team, wound up a four-day visit with Novato Grace Lutheran Church Walther League members Wednesday.

The trio—Jeanne Freudenberger of Oklahoma, Boots Spannaus of Indiana, and Jim Haner of Kansas—departed for St. Paulus Lutheran Church in San Francisco, the 12th and last church they will visit during their tour of California Lutheran churches. From San Francisco they will go to the Midwest for another round of visits.

The three visiting collegians were guests at the homes of Rev. Arthur Koehler, church pastor, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schiewe, youth counsellors, while in Novato.

The Walther Leaguers, a youth group, honored their guests at a family night box supper Tuesday evening. There the visiting youth leaders addressed 64 young people and adult guests, reminding them of the aims of the Walther League program.

Dave Kaehler and Linda Roos, leaders of the Grace Lutheran Walter League, will leave next Monday to attend a week-long course in leadership training at the Lutheran Service Volunteer School, Concordia College in Oakland.

Gallinas Eliminated In Li'l League Play

(Special to the I-J)

REDWOOD CITY — Stockton rallied for four runs in the final inning last night to upset Gallinas Valley All-Stars of Marin County, 6-3, in the semi-finals of the Little League Sectional Championships.

Stockton was scheduled to meet Redwood City this afternoon in the finals for the right to represent the section in further elimination tournament play next week in Santa Cruz. Redwood City edged Ukiah 2-1 in yesterday's other semi-final.

Gallinas Valley, the Marin champion, broke off to a fast 3-0 lead in the first two innings, but Stockton shot back with two runs in the fifth inning on a 210-foot home run by pitcher Mike Griffith following an error and then broke open the game in the sixth frame on five walks and a single.

FISHER SINGLES

Gallinas' two runs in the first inning came after the first two batters were out. Then Russ Powell walked, John Fedorchak was hit by a pitched ball and Bill Hall walked to load the bases. On a return throw to the pitcher Powell stole home and Fedorchak followed him a minute later when Steve Fisher drilled a single.

Dan Mammes displayed some fancy base running to score Gallinas' third run in the second frame. The little right-fielder walked, stole second and then stole third, scoring on a wild throw.

That was all for Gallinas, however, although the Marinites threatened in the fifth when Fedorchak walked and Bill Hall singled. They died on base as the Stockton pitcher retired the side without further damage.

STOCKTON RALLIES

In the top half of the fifth Stockton started its comeback on Griffith's homer. Then in the final frame Gallinas pitcher Billy English, showing signs of fatigue, hit a streak of wildness. He walked four batters to force in the tying run, then was sent to the showers when Mammes was called in to relieve him. Mammes walked his first batter to put Stockton ahead, 4-3, then gave up a two-run single for a 6-3 margin. Fisher came in to relieve Mammes and retired the side.

Mammes and Jim Langbehn walked in the bottom of the sixth, but the rally fizzled.

During his five and one-thirds innings of work English struck out seven batters. Nine Gallinas batters went down swinging.

Defensive sparkler of the game was a stop of a sizzling grounder to first by Fedorchak.

Patterson's Attorney Blasts Back At Ingo

NEW YORK (AP)—Now Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson is catching the verbal punches.

He threw them yesterday from his home in Goteborg, Sweden. He threatened, among other things, to pull out of his rematch title fight with Floyd Patterson, tentatively set for Sept. 22.

He wanted, he scowled, a complete accounting by Sunday of what happened to the money he earned when he won the crown from Patterson on June 26.

"If it doesn't come," the champ said, "the return fight will have to be postponed until a later time."

"I don't know what he's talking about," Patterson's attorney, Edwin Schweig, said today. "We seem to be dealing in a vacuum and the situation is getting silly.

"There is over $400,000 in a bank here, the receipts from the fight, and not one cent of it has been touched except for expenses. Johansson can come examine it any time he wants.

"His lawyer made two dates with me to come look the books over but broke them. All Ingemar has to do is name an escrow agent and he can look at the books. An accounting had to be made to the New York State Tax Commission and the New York State Athletic Commission, so how could there be any irregularities?"

Irving B. Kahn, president of the Teleprompter Corporation, which handled the radio, television and motion picture rights, also said he was mystified at Johansson's demands. He, too, pointed out that Ingemar could have an accounting for the asking.

GIANTS PASS MILLION MARK IN ATTENDANCE

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants' home attendance stood at better than a million today and was running ahead of last year's pace to boot.

Another packed house of 22,794 jammed little Seals Stadium to see last night's game with Cincinnati. It pushed the season total to 1,019,686 after 57 home dates. The million mark wasn't reached until 62 home dates last year.

The Giants have played to 1,036,639 in 51 road games this year.

Bucs-Giants Makeup Game Slated Aug. 26

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the re-scheduling of a game with the San Francisco Giants for Forbes Field the night of Aug. 26, originally an open date.

The game originally was scheduled as the second game of a double-header July 19, but was not played because of rain and curfew.

Ortega Probably Not Proud Of Split Win Over Paret

NEW YORK (AP)—Caspar Ortega, the long and lanky Indian from Mexicali, Mexico, had a decision over Benny "Kid" Paret on his record today, but he probably wasn't too proud of it.

The fifth-ranking welterweight contender got the votes of Judges Mike Parisi and Tommy Dolan in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden last night, but Referee Teddy Martin gave his nod to the unranked Paret, a stocky, muscular battler from Santa Clara, Cuba.

"They stole it from him (Paret)," wailed Paret's manager, Manuel Alfaro. "The commission should revise the decision. I'll protest the decision to the commission Monday even if it costs me my license."

The bruising battle could have been called either way. The Associated Press card had it a draw. Martin had Paret in front, six rounds to four. Parisi had Ortega winning, six to four, and Dolan voted for the Mexican, five to four with one round even.

Oddly enough, the unranked Cuban went into the ring a 7-5 favorite, a rare situation in that he was a substitute for a substitute. Ortega first was scheduled to meet Florentino Fernandez of Cuba, but Fernandez came down with a virus. Then Philadelphian Charley Scott was named, but he figured he couldn't get ready on such short notice.

There were no knockdowns in the nationally-televised fight, but both fighters were soundly jolted several times. Paret, obviously in peak condition for his big chance, took Ortega's best punches without blinking, and fought back with discouraging venom.

Ortega, sensing the bout was too close for comfort, came out fast in the fifth round for a knockout, but his withering attack didn't faze his opponent, so the Mexican flash calmed down and resumed his sharpshooting.

Paret weighed 148 and Ortega 148½ for the main event.

North Swamps South In All-Star Tilt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Santa Cruz halfback John Kirby is the pride of northern California—and the scourge of the South—today after leading his team to a 26-6 triumph in the eighth Shrine California All-Star Game.

The big-but cat-fast—Kirby electrified a crowd of 57,989 partisan Southerners last night in the Colisium as he scored two touchdowns and set up another with a daring interception.

The 6-foot, 203-pound back won most valuable player of the game honors for leading the invaders to the win that brought them to a 3-4-1 record in the charity classic.

(Marin County's two All-Stars played an important role in the North's victory. Quarterback Jack Sparrow of Novato handled the controls of the T-formation attack in several drives while Ron Snidow of San Rafael turned in a rugged line performance. Both boys saw considerable action).

KIRBY HURT

After scoring the first touchdown, however, Kirby was out of action briefly when he ran head-on into Santa Barbara's Howard Williams. Kirby was carried off the field on a stretcher.

But midway in the third quarter, he came back to get his second score—a six-yard drive off tackles to cap a 40-yard north drive.

Three plays later, Kirby darted in front of Long Beach Poly's speedy Dee Andrews to snag a pass from San Diego's Ezell Singleton and dodged his way 43 yards to the South 15.

SOUTH SCORES

Monterey's Dick Austin got the score then with a seven-yard sprint.

About the only chance the southern crowd had to whoop it up was in the final quarter when Andrews skirted end for 12 yards and a score to cap a 67-yard drive.

Berkeley's Leroy Whittle got the final score of the game—and a Shrine series record — when he broke around end and outran the secondary for a 58-yard touchdown. It was the longest running play from scrimmage in All-Star records.

The victorious North was coached by Kirby's old coach, Larry Siemering of Santa Cruz and Bill Gott of Stagg in Stockton.

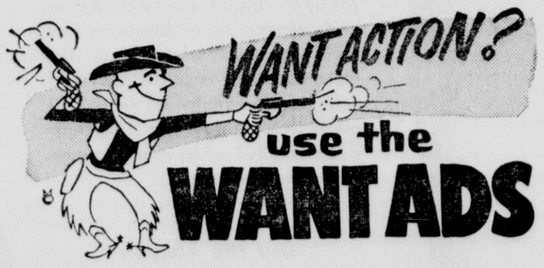

TOUGH LINEMAN

Marvin Fleming, Compton's tough defensive end, was voted the most valuable lineman in the game. He crashed through the beefy North line time and again to spoil Northern plays —usually crucial ones.

Singleton, who played all 48 minutes as the South's signal caller, completed 12 of 19 passes for 99 yards, but had four picked off by the opposition—two in the end zone for touchbacks.

Mays Bat Sizzling Again

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Where there's a Willie there's a way.

So it goes with the San Francisco Giants, who moved a game and a half ahead in the National League pennant race last night on Willie Mays' ninth-inning single that beat Cincinnati 3-2.

Rookie Willie McCovey, whose blasting bat first fired the Giants in their current hot streak, went hitless. But the veteran Willie collected three hits for the second straight game as he appeared to have shucked his slump.

Mays' winning hit, that bounced off losing pitcher Brooks Lawrence as Felipe Alou scampered in from third base, provided left-handed pitcher Johnny Antonelli the honor of becoming the first in either major league to win 16 games this campaign.

Johnny went the route, giving up just four singles and striking out nine.

In addition to a double and two singles in five trips to the plate, Mays pulled a fielding gem from his center field position by racing to the wall to haul down a drive from Johnny Temple that appeared to be ticketed for extra bases in the fourth. Mays crashed into the barrier but came up holding the ball.

Mays just missed getting back into the .300 circle. His three hits, after a single, double and home run against Milwaukee the day before, left him at .298.

San Francisco scored two runs in the second inning as shortstop Eddie Bressoud doubled home one and a second came in when Bob Schmidt grounded out.

Antonelli didn't give up a hit until the fifth when the Reds bunched singles by Willie Jones, Ed Bailey and Roy McMillan. He then struck out the side.

An error by Bressoud in the eighth on Vada Pinson's grounder — plus the fourth hit off Antonelli, a single by Gus Bell —tied the count in the first of the eighth. Lawrence took over the pitching for young Jim O'Toole for the last of the frame.

He didn't run into trouble until the ninth when he opened by hitting pinch batter Leon Wagner. Then he threw wildly to second after fielding Antonelli's bunt. Jimmy Davenport was called out on strikes but then Mays lined his single off the pitcher and the game was over.

The Giants' victory gained them one-half game on both the Dodgers and third place Milwaukee Braves, both idle last night.

Contestants may post their scores, which will be on a 3-6-9 handicap basis, at any time between Aug. 14 and the closing date Aug. 30. The tournament fee will be $2.50 and all net proceeds will go to the Marin Emergency Polio Fund Drive.

The tournament will consist of three divisions: men, women and novices, with a wide variety of prizes which are being donated by Marin merchants. The tournament committee, in addition to the co-chairmen, are Claude Moore, director; Lenore Woolams, awards; Ronald Gurries, treasurer; Price Hall and Emelie Wilson, publicity.

Country Club Bowl, incidentally, is reportedly scheduled to open for informal bowling next Friday night.

HAL HARNELL, secretary of the Wednesday night Mixed Foursome League, was in a rut this week. He fired three identical games of 147 for a 441 series.

THERE'S a ding-dong race going in the Monday night Men's Handicap League with only two weeks remaining. Lucas Valley Dairy leads the pack with 40½ wins against 15½ losses, but breathing down the milkmen's necks are Mission City Meats, 40-16 and Ole Timers, 39-17.

Witt Beaten By No. 1 Star In Nationals

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — John Karabasz of Coral Gables, Fla., and Bill Lenoir, Tucson, Ariz., met today for the national Jaycee Tennis Tournament's junior division singles championship.

In the boys division finals it was first-seeded Jim Beste of Baton Rouge, La., against second-ranked Rodney Kop, Honolulu.

Top-seeded Lenoir, who coasted through the first five rounds of the tournament without losing a set, had to rally yesterday to eliminate Dave Sanderlin of El Cajon, Calif.

Sanderlin, who came in as a replacement for fourth-seeded Ramsey Earnhart, Ventura, Calif., won the first set 6-3 before Lenoir snapped back to take the next two 6-3, 6-1.

Second-seeded Karabasz had an easy time of it against Tom Edlefsen, Oakland, Calif., winning 6-1, 6-2.

Beste, runnerup in the boys' division last year, defeated Reed Witt, Larkspur, Calif., 6-2, 6-4.

Witt, who was seeded sixth, was gunning for his second straight upset after he downed third-seeded Jackie Cooper of Louisville, Ky., Thursday. However, the top-seeded Beste proved too powerful for the young Marin County star.

And Kop, who hasn't lost a set in six matches, disposed of 1958 champion Charles Pasarell, Pueblo Viejo, Puerto Rico, 6-2, 6-3.

In the junior doubles finals today, Edlefsen and Sanderlin faced Jerry Walters and Butch Newman of Texas. The California team advanced Friday with a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Lenoir and Bob Sebree, Arizona, while Walters and Newman were ousting Francisco Castillo and Richard Colby of Michigan, 6-3, 6-4.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints, each day the code letters are different.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, Aug. 8, the 220th day of the year, with 145 more days in 1959.

The moon is in its first quarter.

The morning star is Mercury.

On this date in history:

In 1588, Sir Francis Drake destroyed the Spanish armada, marking England's emergence as the world's greatest sea power.

In 1923, jazzman Benny Goodman landed his first musical job when the bandleader on a Chicago excursion boat told the 14-year-old boy to get his clarinet and report for work.

In 1940, the German luftwaffe began daylight attacks on the British Isles.

In 1945, President Harry Truman signed the ratification of the United Nations charter.

In 1945, Russia declared war on Japan seven days before the Japanese surrender.

In 1950, Florence Chadwick of San Diego swam the English Channel in 13 hours and 28 minutes to set a new women's speed record.

A though for today: Plato said: "The love of learning is the love of wisdom."

Bank Sues To Collect On Bond

A Long Beach bank filed suit in Los Angeles yesterday to recover $750,000 on a surety bond posted for a bank cashier who killed himself and implicated a San Rafael businessman in a $3,714,710 embezzlement last spring.

The bank claims that the Fidelity and Casuality Co. of New York has declined to make good on the bond.

Investigators say the cashier, George A. Hewlett, wrote in a suicide note that the embezzled money had gone to John R. Hendrickson, 27 Dellwood court, San Rafael. Hendrickson has been indicted on an embezzlement conspiracy charge.

Assault Suspect Pleads Innocent

Joseph Gabriel, 52, of San Geronimo, charged with assaulting a Forest Knolls housewife with intent to rape, and two other morals charges, yesterday pleaded innocent in the municipal court of Judge Harold J. Haley.

The case was continued to Tuesday when a time will be set for a preliminary hearing.

Case Continued

The case of retired Maj. Francis James Donohue, 58, of 142 Auburn street, San Rafael, charged with molesting a 3-year-old girl, has been continued to next Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

Summer School Pupils Rate Their Time As Well Spent

Just about all the studen' who went to summer school : Tamalpais, Redwood and S' Francis Drake High Schoo' thought their time was wel spent.

That was the response of 64' the 667 students who (in co-peration with their parents) swered a questionnaire at e end of the sessions.

Findings of the questionnaire ere reported to the board of rustees of Tamalpais Union igh School District in an eval-tation of the program by Har-y G. Russell, director of the ummer sessions.

Russell reported a record turnout at the summer classes. Of the 1389 total enrollment, 432 were at Tamalpais, 558 at Drake and 399 at Redwood.

Why do students give up the morning hours of their summer vacation to stay with the books?

The questionnaire resulted in these answers (most students gave more than one reason):

To get extra credits, 347; to make more profitable use of the summer vacation, 292; to take a course which probably could not be taken during the regular school year, 175; "other" answers, 116;

To improve in reading or arithmetic, 95; to repeat the course for a better understanding of it, 73; to make up previously lost credits, 71, and to repeat the course for a better grade, 61.

In evaluating the program, Russell said, teachers and administrators thought the sessions might provide more enrichment courses in science, mathematics and foreign languages.

"Summer school can afford to experiment," Russell said in the report. "Perhaps the modern language field laboratory may be profitably used, or courses offered in analytical geometry, calculus, marine biology, salesmanship, etc."

He concluded: "Although summer school may be somewhat more informal than the regular high school, it is believed that this closeness of teacher-pupil relationship brings out the best in the pupil.

"Competition among the students is keener, achievement standards are continually being advanced and the students thoroughly enjoy their work."

Ike Slates Talks With NATO Chiefs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower plans to meet with top officials of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris in early September, the White House announced today.

News Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President will discuss with NATO leaders "important aspects of the current world situation of concern to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

The meeting, which apparently will take place about Sept. 4, will be with Joseph M. A. H. Luns, Netherlands foreign minister and president of the North Atlantic Council, and Paul Henri Spaak, secretary general of NATO.

The meeting with Luns and Spaak means, in effect, that the request from some NATO country heads for a summit meeting of all treaty organization nations has been rejected.

Kayo Asks High Court To Dismiss Assault Charge

Petition for a state Supreme Court hearing for dismissal of the assault indictment against Terence (Kayo) Hallinan of Ross has been filed in the wake of recent dismissal of a similar petition by the District Court of Appeal.

Hallinan, 22-year-old University of California student, is charged with striking James Thalhamer, 18, near a Greenbrae bowling alley last May 29. Thalhamer's jaw was broken with a single blow which was delivered, Hallinan claims, in self-defense.

Pilot Says Jet Flight Over Pole 'Boring'

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UPI) — The pilot of one of two jet planes which made the first fighter jet flight across the North Pole today described the trip as "kind of boring and routine."

The two supersonic fighter jets landed here yesterday after ground crews chased a wandering moose off the runway at Eielson Air Force Base. They covered the 5,405 miles from Weatherfield, England, in 9 hours and 37 minutes.

"We cruised between about 27,000 and 37,000 feet the whole distance," said Capt. Robert Titus, Norfolk, Va., pilot of one of the planes. "There wasn't much to do up there. It was kind of boring and routine."

The other plan was piloted by Brig. Gen. Charles Blair, Air Force Reserve.

"We just sort of moping along during the whole trip," said Titus. He said the jets averaged about 500 miles an hour during the flight.

Satellite's Performance Pleasing To Scientists

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Scientists reported today they were highly pleased with the first day's performance of Explorer VI, the paddlewheel satellite fired into orbit yesterday.

The jubilant scientists said that the new addition to America's space achievements already has reaped information of vast importance to future rocket probes of the moon and planets.

The successful launching heightened the likelihood of a rocket "moon mission" in October and a probe millions of miles into space tentatively scheduled for November.

It also raised the possibility of a rocket shot toward Mars when the red planet is in a suitable position Oct. 1, 1960, and towards Venus in 1961.

Explorer VI, nicknamed the paddlewheel because of four paddle-shaped solar cell vanes, was launched into the longest, flattest orbit ever achieved by an earth satellite.

The orbit extends 25,000 miles from earth at its farthest point and within 150 miles at its closest approach. It takes 12½ hours to complete each full circuit.

The paddlewheel satellite made its second pass over Singapore in the late afternoon. A spokesman for the tracking station directed by the U. S. Air Force said the satellite was performing well and its signals were strong.

A moonwatch team in Los Angeles picked up a "wavery but discernible" radio signal from the satellite for an hour last night on 108.06 megacycles. Tom Quinn, one of the moonwatchers, estimated that Explorer VI was about 15,000 miles from earth at that time.

The satellite is not expected to be visible to the naked eye.

Are Appetites Spoiled If Child Doesn't Clean Up Plate? 'No'

Mrs. F.D. "My father says I'm spoiling our children. He's bothered because I do not make them eat every scrap of food on their plates. I was raised that way, and I hated it. I do make the children take a bite or two from everything put before them. But if they don't like it, I don't force them to eat it. When they aren't hungry I do not make them eat large meals. My dad says my children will be poor eaters all their lives. Willthey?"

Reply. Probably not. Your father's tactics are more apt to produce poor eaters. Eventually your children will enjoy nearly all foods, since they haven't learned to dislike them. Please don't forget that your children are your responsibility. Not your father's. Be patient with him. Try not to quarrel. But don't give in. You and your husband are the ones to decide how to raise your children.

Mr. T.M. "Will you tell me how big an allowance my son should get? He is 11. At his age I earned my own money. He can't do that. What should I give him?"

Reply. Talk with the parents of the boys in his gang. Find out what they've giving their sons. Then, if possible, give him the average amount. He shouldn't have much more than his pals. Nor much less. Help him set up a plan to save part of the money. Try not to let him waste all of it. Have him learn to give some of his allowance to church, or welfare activities. His allowance can be an important part of his education.

Mrs. F.R.T.: "Our girl is 6. She's quite cute. She seems to attract little boys. They hang around the house like real boy friends. Is this unusual?"

Reply. No. Such friendships are common at 6 or 7. When the boys are 10 or 11 they'll have little use for her. Or for the other girls. But during their teens they'll be back in droves.

STORM

the record of last year also having occurred on a single occasion July 17.

Muir Woods recorded rainfall during the night of .01 inch.

Marin's overnight experience was common to the whole Bay Area and San Francisco police and newspapers were called by many who mistook the thunder for "explosions."

Slight rain but general fireworks happened throughout a generally foggy Bay Area with one lightning bolt shutting off power at the 200-foot KRON-TV town on the San Bruno mountains for three minutes at midnight. Two bolts set utility pole fires in Ingleside and Mission districts of San Francisco.

What was termed a "freak summer storm" was caused by moisture moving in from the southwest, according to weather experts who said conditions were such that something similar might occur again tonight.

The weekend weather forecast is for partly cloudy skies and possibly more of those thunderstorms.

Chaplain To Speak

Chaplain Marvin Gardner of Hamilton Air Force Base will speak at both the 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. services of the Novato Bethel Baptist Church, 1929 Novato boulevard, tomorrow.

Retired Nurse Dies Here At Age Of 81

Funeral services will be held Monday in San Rafael for Mrs. Charlotte M. Hughes, a resident of Marin for more than 40 years, who died Thursday at a local hospital at the age of 81.

Mrs. Hughes was the youngest of nine children of the late John and Elizabeth Wilson, California pioneers who crossed the country in a covered wagon in the 1850's to settle in the San Joaquin Valley.

BLAST

bodies recovered from the ruins had been identified.

The blast leveled eight square blocks and engineers checked other buildings to see if they were in danger of crumbling.

The Red Cross, in a preliminary survey, listed about 350 businesses damaged. Many near the blast center were destroyed. Six hotels were closed. The survey said 12 homes were destroyed, 35 suffered major damage and about 250 had minor damage.

Carry said some of the ruins were still so hot that no search of them could be made today.

A 15-foot-deep crater about 50 feet in diameter marked the place where driver George Rutherford parked his six-ton load of dynamite and a mixture of ammonium nitrate and diesel oil. A fire in a warehouse nearby set off the truck.

The chimp, named "Mickey," knocked Joya Lanning to the ground and bit her twice as panicked fairgoers fled to their cars and other places of safety.

San Rafael Resident 54 Years Dies

Mrs. Dora Crockett, 85, a Californian for 75 years and a San Rafael resident for 54 years, died in a local hospital last night after a long illness. Her home had been for some years in an apartment at 1322 Lincoln avenue, San Rafael.

The late Henry Crockett, Mrs. Crockett's husband who died in 1917, established the San Rafael moving and storage business known as Crockett's Van and Storage more than a half-century ago, and the family was widely known because of this enterprise.

MISSOURI NATIVE

A native of Sullivan, Mo., Mrs. Crockett was brought to California as a girl of 10 and came to San Rafael when she was 21.

The family business stemmed from a small horse and wagon express which started operation in 1897 with headquarters at 522 B street, San Rafael. Its descendant was to build three modern warehouses on the same B street site, equipped them with up-to-date sprinkler systems.

The originator of the express business was a man named Burkhart, but in taking over, Henry and Dora Crockett opened offices as Crockett's Express with a warehouse at 216 Belle avenue and the office in 1910 on the site of the Independent-Journal building.

In 1912 Crockett's provided the first motor express truck to run in Marin county.

SURVIVOR'S LISTED

Survivors of Mrs. Crockett include a son and a daughter, Marshall Keyes, who succeeded Crockett in ownership of the family company, and Mrs. Eleanor McCallum, both of San Rafael; a sister, Mrs. Clara Butler of Calistoga; a brother, Albert Luebbecke of Sacramento; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral and interment will be private but friends may call until noon Monday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Request is made that memorial contributions be made to Guide Dogs for the Blind or favorite charities.

launching sites and can evaluate the performance of a rocket thousands of miles away. Such information has already yielded important guide lines on the state of the Soviet missile program."

If the detection equipment will spot a missile within seconds or brief minutes from the firing time at a range of more than 5,000 miles, it would appear to be better than the Air Force's Ballistic Missile Early Warning System BMEWS now being built in the far north. That conventional, although long range radar system, is designed to detect missiles at distances of about 2,000 or 3,000 miles—after they are well on the way toward target.

The new device carries the name of "high frequency ionospheric back scatter radar."

It detects ionized gas, those particles of electrons which appear in temperatures of thousands or millions of degrees after a nuclear explosion or in the exhaust trail of rocket motors on ballistic missiles.

Bomb Killers Receive Stay Of Execution

Two men scheduled to die in San Quentin's gas chamber next Friday for the "incendiary bomb" killing of six persons received an indefinite stay of execution yesterday.

The men, Clyde Bates, 38, and Manuel Chavez, 27, were convicted of killing six in a Los Angeles bar in 1957 when they poured a bucket of gasoline through the door and tossed in a lighted match.

Judge Frederick G. Hamley of the United States Court of Appeals in San Francisco granted the stay to allow time for a three-judge panel of the court of appeals to consider the case.

Earlier yesterday U. S. District Judge Louis E. Goodman had denied the paid a postponement but granted "certificates of probable cause," which prompted the appeals judge to grant the stay of execution.

Defense attorney Richard H. Gladstein said the trial court had unconstitutionally considered the crime first degree murder because it involved arson. He claimed that arson, under California law, applies only to dwellings and that the bar was not a dwelling.

Mt. Tamalpais Squadron's Pool In Use

Officers and enlisted personnel at the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron atop Mt. Tamalpais took a first swim in their new pool this week following opening ceremonies.

Col. Howard A. Cheney, vice commander of the 28th Air Division from Hamilton Air Force Base, was on hand to cut the ribbon that opened the pool and initiated the swimming season at the top of the mountain.

As Lt. Col. John P. Byrne, station commander, looked on, life guards and "first users" dived in.

The pool, some 60 feet long and 30 feet wide, with a maximum depth of 12 feet, will be open seven days a week under supervision of life guards Perry Jennings and Teddy Meier. There is also a wading pool for small children of air force personnel.

It is expected that the pool will remain open until cold weather sets in.

Captain Huth was given the award for his "outstanding contributions to the command," while serving as assistant signal officer from August, 1957 to August, 1959. Captain Huth has been reassigned to Okinawa.

Texas Town Menaced By Fumes

IOWA PARK, Tex. (AP)—More than 100 persons, evacuated from a 15-block area when deadly anhydrous ammonia fumes filled the area, returned to their homes today after workmen drained a leaking 6,000-gallon tank.

Police Chief Ross Chapman said the alert was canceled when a team of firemen, civil defense workers and chemical workers attached a line to the tank and pumped the heavy liquefied gas into a second tank nearby.

The leak was blamed on a high-pressure gauge which blew out.

BRITISH CALM AT NEWS QUEEN IS EXPECTING

LONDON (AP) — Her Majesty's loyal subjects haven't had an expectant queen in 102 years.

You would have thought, therefore, that yesterday's news from Buckingham Palace would have stirred up excitement.

If that's what you thought, you don't know the British.

"She is? How nice for her," was the reaction of a pretty stenographer to the news that a third child will be born to Queen Elizabeth II early next year.

Britons seem to feel that once the queen has produced an heir, in this case Prince Charles there isn't much to get excited about.

High Sierra Lakes Bombed From Air With Tiny Trout

FRESNO (AP) — Over the high lakes in the central Sierra last week a twin-engine airplane darted from the sky, skimmed the water's surface and discharged streams of water laden with tiny fish.

It was the California Fish and Game Department's bomber. In three consecutive days the plane bombed numerous lakes and reservoirs in the central Sierra with approximately 750,000 trout fingerlings.

At the controls were Senior Warden Pilot Al Reese and Charles Faist, both of Sacramento.

Reese is a pioneer in the state's aerial fish plantings. Faist is a former World War II bomber pilot.

With the aid of hatchery employes, they plant from 700 to 800 lakes every year. Their safety record is perfect.

The smaller the lake, the closer they fly to the surface. Otherwise the fish may be scattered on the shore.

"On some small lakes, an acre or so," says Reese, "we may get down to 150 feet from the water before pulling out."

"If we get 'em in good condition," Faist says, "we put them down alive."

The 750,000 fingerlings planted last week came from the San Joaquin River Hatchery, 20 miles north of Fresno.

The fish are put into large milk cans with cold water at temperatures from 36 to 46 degrees. Sodium anathol is added. This slows down the metabolism of the 5,000 fish in each can.

While enroute to the airstrip, they are kept iced down and supplied with oxygen.

Transferred to the plane, an oxygen hose is put into each can. When the aircraft nears the target area a man unloads the cans into a chute. At the precise moment the plane pulls out of its dive, the fish flutter into the water.

Sometimes, over a large body of water like Lake Tahoe, the fish are dropped from as high as 1,500 feet.

The Fish and Game bomber spends much of its time going from one end of the state to the other. When its in the hangar at Sacramento, just the pilots are allowed to work on it — Reese and Faist.

The Independent-Journal Will Have an Opening in Classified Advertising

We are only interested in the highest type people who can serve the best interest of our customers.

Advertising work is permanent and interesting if you are the type of person suitable for it.

In order to succeed in advertising you should still be young enough to learn a new profession. (That usually means under 40.) You should have at least high school education and experience in dealing with the public. Good health is essential because even temporary absenteeism plays havoc with an advertising career. You should be the type of person who likes people, a fluent clear talker, friendly, interested and interesting . . . Yes there ARE such people. We have them right here in our office!

Good spelling, pleasant telephone voice and typing are MUSTS! 40 hour, 5 day week includes Saturday. A car is necessary.

Paid vacations, COMPANY PAID HEALTH PLAN and excellent working conditions make the Independent - Journal a pleasant place to work.

If you are interested in a career opportunity and "on the job training" for a new field apply by LETTER for interview to the Classified Advertising Manager, Independent - Journal 1040 B st. stating employment, history, age, salary requirements etc.

Or, better still, you could buy one of them and save us both a lot of work. We can promise you a darn good buy. If you just want to talk boats, come over anyway and take a sail in our "DAY SAILER." Steel Settlement Still Not In Sight

NEW YORK (AP) — The 25-day-old steel strike seemed as far away from settlement as ever today, and pressure was mounting in Congress to have President Eisenhower intervene.

Yesterday Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald joined company spokesmen and mediators in saying that recent reports of progress were unfounded. Negotiations will resume Monday after a weekend recess.

In Washington, 32 Senate Democrats have sponsored a resolution urging Eisenhower to try to speed a settlement in the strike, which experts estimate has already cost both company and workers more than a billion dollars in wages and orders.

TO LABOR GROUP

The resolution was offered Tuesday by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) who has asked that it be left open for other signers until next Tuesday, when it will be referred to the Senate Labor Committee.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the Senate majority leader, has indicated he is taking no part in pushing the resolution, but 31 senators have joined Symington in signing it.

The strike has idled half a million steelworkers and shut down almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel poduction. It is estimated that more than 100,000 workers in transportation and mining have been thrown out of work as a result of the strike.

TWO MOVES FAVORED

The resolution, if passed, would put Congress on record as favoring two moves. The first would be to have the President summon union and industry leaders to the White House and use his influence to have them reach agreement.

If that failed, the President would be expected to set a deadline for agreement. If no agreement was reached by then, the President would be expected to appoint a fact-finding board to submit recommendations for a settlement.

The President is understood to be reluctant to interfere with the process of collective bargaining, and does not want to make any move that might be looked on as helping one side or the other.

Corte Madera Council Briefed On Accounting

Three Corte Madera town councilmen were briefed at an informal meeting last night on a modified accounting procedure which gives a clearer picture of the status of various town funds.

Under the change, every warrant drawn on the town treasury indicates the fund against which the expenditure is to be charged.

The system permits the various funds (flood control, recreation, park, etc.) to show a negative balance pending receipt of expected revenues.

PAST PRACTICE

In the past certain fund expenditures would be recorded as transfers to the general fund. Whenever revenue was received, the general fund would be reimbursed for money previously advanced to a special fund. The revised method lets each fund build up either a credit or debit reflecting its relationship to the general fund.

Former Town Auditor Douglas Black, who quit last April in a dispute with Treasurer John R. Vance, had opposed the idea of carrying funds with negative balances.

It was supported last night by Frederic D. Kerr, Black's successor. Said Kerr: "If the idea of having separate funds means anything, you are entitled to know the status of each."

"I favor this 100 per cent," said Vance. "I am all for an accurate report."

FAVORED BY BRANDOW

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow submitted a memorandum outlining the procedure. He said he would like the council, at an official meeting, to give it formal endorsement and designate Town Clerk Naydeen Penny as the person responsible for carrying it out.

In another matter, Brandow said he and Kerr will study the advisability of auditing the town's insurance structure "just to make sure we are not over-covered or under-covered."

Councilmen who attended last night's meeting in the town hall were William R. Hansen, Albert E. Kogler and Mayor Roger F. Morse. Also present were Mrs. Penny and bookkeeper Bertha Hall.

Rockefeller Wedding 2 Weeks Away

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) — Steven Rockefeller announced with a grin today he has lost his first real argument to his fiance. Therefore, his wedding will be performed two weeks from today in the "new" Lunde church.

The son of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appeared before reporters and photographers with Anne Marie Rasmussen outside the home of the bride's father.

He confined details of the nuptials to the choice of the church.

"If I give you everything about the wedding now," he said, "you won't have anything to write at the time of the wedding and then you'd be the ones who were sorry."

Steven had wanted to be married in the three-century-old church in Sogne because of its tradition and primitive beauty, but Anne Marie insisted on the "new" church where she was christened and confirmed in the Norwegian Lutheran faith. Steven yielded and judging from his good humor he regarded it as something less than a crisis.

Seven Whites Accused Of Blasting Home

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Seven white men have been arrested in connection with the first of two explosions that ripped through a Negro home.

Delaware State Police Capt. John Herbert said after yesterday's announcement of the arrests that officials expect more to follow.

Herbert did not explain whether they might be in connection with the first blast last April 7 that caused $3,500 damage or the latest explosion last Sunday that completely wrecked the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rayfield. The Rayfields and their teen-age daughter were not at home at either time.

The Rayfields were the first and only Negro family to move into the previously all-white nearby community of Collins Park last January.

DEMONSTRATIONS

At the start they were plagued by demonstrations. Then things quieted down until the explosion April 7.

There were no other demonstrations or violence until Sunday's explosion which completely ruined the $13,500 home.

The Rayfields are staying with relatives here. They plan to move soon into a rented house.

The Rayfields were not immediately available for comment, but earlier in the week when asked how they felt about Sunday's explosion, Mrs. Rayfield had said:

"How would you feel?"

Her 14-year-old daughter, Geraldine, was more bitter, saying: "I can't explain the hatred in my heart."

TIPS FROM FBI

Delaware State Police, acting on FBI tips, arrested six of the men. The other man was arrested in Venice, Fla., where he was vacationing.

Those arrested in Wilmington were Gilbert Minnick, 49; Francis Conley, 32; Albert L. Reverdito, 32; David Emory, 28, and Ronald Therkildsen, 24, all of Collins Park and Melvin Downing, 28, of Overview Gardens, a neighboring development.

All were released on bail ranging from $5,000 to $15,000 pending Delaware Superior Court action.

William V. Charlton, a filling station operator, was arrested in Venice. Charlton, who also lived in Collins Park, said that he was 600 miles from Wilmington on April 7.

Slaying Motive Claimed

WEST COVINA, Calif (AP) — The prosecutor says Dr. Bernard Finch, charged with murdering his wife, forged a $3,000 check against her bank account two months before she died.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred Wichello said yesterday he will use the check "to show motive in this case."

Wichello said Dr. Finch, 41, a wealthy surgeon, was facing possible prosecution over the check at the time his wife, Barbara, 31, was shot to death July 18.

Hurricane Weakens

HONOLULU (AP) — Hurricane Dot moved well north of the Hawaiian Islands today and weakened into a tropical storm.

But her 75 mile an hour winds had flooded and ravaged the island of Kauai at the northern end of the Hawaiian chain. Dot's howling gales ripped roofs off houses, wrecked old frame buildings, flattened sugar cane, knocked down power and telephone lines and sent 1,000 tourists and residents to high ground. No casualties were reported.

Edward E. Johnston, acting governor, asked President Eisenhower to declare Kauai a federal disaster area, qualifying her residents for federal aid loans.

Fire Out Of Control

Paralytic Polio Climbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of paralytic polio cases continued to increase last week, but the pace was slowed somewhat.

Marin Chapter Sets Special Campaign For Polio Funds

An emergency drive for polio funds by the Marin County Chapter of the National Foundation will begin on Aug. 17 and continue through Aug. 31.

The drive is necessary, said Mrs. Melvin Hammond, Marin Chapter chairman, because the local treasury is not only empty, but is still in debt for $20,000.

The lack of funds, Mrs. Hammond said, is due to the continued need for patient care here in Marin for those stricken before the Salk vaccine became available, and also, she said, because people have lulled themselves into thinking polio is licked and therefore funds are no longer needed.

The local chapter this year has spent $21,000 is aiding 36 patients, some of whose needs for costly equipment and therapy account for $9,000 advanced from the National Foundation and a $20,000 indebtedness.

Even though the local chapter is working on a program of curtailing some services, such as no more payments for non-paralytic polio, the amount needed to finish the year is $40,000.

All funds collected in the present emergency drive, Mrs. Hammond points out, will be kept in Marin County to care for this desperate situation. In previous years approximately 85 per cent of monies collected in the March of Dimes was kept for patient care and the balance sent to the National Foundation for research of the type which led to the Salk vaccine.

In this drive there will be no house-to-house collections, but letters will go out to all county residents outlining the problem and appealing for contributions. Costs of administration will be kept to the 2 per cent which has obtained in the local chapter's history, Mrs. Hammond promised.

Organizations and businesses in the county have been invited to present any special activity to aid in this drive. Arrangements have already been set up at the Greenbrae Lanes for a special benefit bowling tournament, according to Tom Coates, manager. He will be co-chairman for the event along with Paul Mendelsohn of the fund drive. The tournament, with many prizes offered as gifts from merchants in Marin, will get under way at midnight Aug. 14.

The Blumenfeld Theaters will present a short film with a plea for aid, according to Al Goodwin, manager. The Lions Club of San Anselmo, and the Junior Chambers of Commerce in Novato, Mill Valley, and San Rafael may announce plans for the drive.

Any group interested in doing something special for this event, said Mrs. Hammond, is encouraged to go ahead.

The new program of the foundation aimed at overcoming causes of birth defects and rheumatoid arthritis will not begin here until the 1960 March of Dimes, Mrs. Hammond said.

NATIONAL TREASURES

Japanese Group Hunts For Samurai Swords

NEW YORK (AP)—Some GI's are in for a good "cut" if they own certain ancient Samurai swords, considered by Japan to be national treasures.

The Japanese Artistic Sword Preservation Assn. has launched a treasure hunt for 42 of the fierce-looking, two-handed blades believed brought home by American servicemen after World War II. The 42 are among an estimated 350,000 carted home by the men.

Junzo Sato, representative of the association, said yesterday he was prepared to present "suitable gifts" to any one returning a valuable Samurai sword. The most treasured blades, the ones being sought, date back to the 11th and 12th centuries.

The value of the swords depends on the name of the sword maker, which is inscribed on the 30-inch blade, or the name of the family to which it belongs, Sato said.

During the war the swords were turned out by the thousands, and Sato said he was not interested in these. But the blade, he noted, has played an important part in the lives of Japan's military caste for centuries.

Sato said the Japanese consulate general here will receive returned swords and determine whether they are the treasured ones.

Finding 42 swords among a batch of a third of a million is somewhat like looking for a needle in a haystack, Sato said. And he added wryly: "There are more Samurai swords in the United States than there are in Japan."

Dope Raid Staged In Bakersfield

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Law enforcement officers today staged a mass roundup of suspected narcotics offenders in the greater Bakersfield area.

The raid began at 3 a.m. and by 7:30 a.m. there were 30 persons in custody on charges of illegal sale and possession of narcotics.

The roundup detail of 23 policemen, three state Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement officers and 51 sheriff's deputies was headed by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Loren Fote. They were dispatched to the homes of 63 persons suspected of narcotics violation.

The investigation was instigated by Sheriff Leroy Galyen and a special detail in March. After it became apparent that part of the offenses were occurring inside the city limits, Assistant Police Chief Jack Towle and Detective C. R. Milligan of the Bakersfield police vice detail began an active participation in the investigation.

Prior to today's raid a large quantity of heroin, marijuana and barbiturates was purchased by undercover agents.

Marine Patrol Planned By Lake

Lake County Sheriff Rolleigh W. Warr and Lake County Administrator George Tomsho have returned to their county with a few ideas on how to run a marine patrol.

The two officers recently visited Marin and conferred with Sgt. Guy Gibbs of the sheriff's office on Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos' newly formed Marin Patrol, and discussed problems of water safety.

Gibbs said Lake County is interested in setting up such a patrol, and that he as the sheriff's liaison officer explained Marin's program.

Mill Valley Lions Slate Gift To Retarded Tots

The Mill Valley Lions Club, which supports Marin County's special school for retarded children as a club project, will provide the school with a special set of building blocks by the time classes open next month.

This was announced today by Fred Roemer, committee chairman. A set of the blocks, in use at the San Rafael class for retarded children, was shown the club Tuesday evening by Mrs. Lillian Anderson, teacher.

House Opens Debate On Labor Bills On Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of three different labor control bills agree that the House this year will pass some kind of bill aimed at labor racketeers.

A week of debate on the bills begins in the House on Tuesday. One of them has the support of President Eisenhower, who appealed to the nation on radio and television Thursday night to erase what he called the national disgrace of labor-management gangsterism.

The President supported the toughest of the three, the bill sponsored by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich).

The House also is considering a bill sponsored by Rep. John F. Shelley (D-Calif). This measure has the support of the AFL-CIO. Another bill voted out by the House Labor Committee has the support of Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex).

The committee bill is a watered-down version of a bill passed by the Senate in April.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there had been a large number of telegrams commenting on the President's speech and many were "virtually unanimous in support of the President's position."

The networks turned down a request by Democrats for equal time to answer Eisenhower. But their viewpoint will be given some time on radio and television.

Rayburn will discuss labor legislation on the Mutual Radio Network Monday night, and Reps. James Roosevelt (D-Calif) and Frank Thompson Jr. (D-NJ) will discuss the same question on the ABC radio and television networks that same night.

CONTROVERSY over where Francis Drake landed continues as Robert H. Power presents his theory that the Golden Hind sailed through the Golden Gate to anchor near Angel Island. This portrait of Drake was engraved about 1588 by Jodocus Hondius.

CHESTNUT-BACKED CHICKADEE — Perhaps you will first see this little fellow (4¾ in.) hanging head down gleaning insect eggs or larvae from the under side of a branch. He is a plump little bird with reddish-brown back and sides, a black throat, white cheeks, and a brown-black top to his head. He is quite confiding, and groups continually flit on and off a feeding tray containing suet. The Chestnut-backed Chickadee lives in wooded areas and builds its nest in a hole in a tree, usually having 5 or 6 eggs. He stays in Marin the year around. His most frequent calls are "kechezawick!" and "kissadee!" (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyright by M. F. Austin.)

My Curiosity About Wisteria Vine Leads To Bricks, Boats, Building

IT STARTED with trying to judge the age of the wisteria vine at La Petite Auberge in San Rafael. My wife said it must be 50 to 100 years old and I said no, 25 years would probably be closed. So I put it down in the restaurant column by leaving the question open.

Mrs. A. B. Costigan picked it up and phoned me that her husband would know because he had built the place, and would I like to talk to him about it? I told her yes, I would, so I ran down to their house on Mooring Road because I smelled a story that might be more than wisteria blossoms.

Well, with discussing one thing and another I found out that Gus Costigan has been putting up buildings and houses of crazy mixed-up bricks and heavy timbers in the county since 1928. In fact, he not only built the 4th and Tamalpais place but also El Paseo in Mill Valley and the Mill Valley Record building.

He reconstructed the old Lyford home on Strawberry Point for the Marin Conservation League, has figured in on rebuilding the old Reed Mill, is on the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee, and a list of his unique projects would occupy a full day's tour throughout Marin.

The structure presently housing La Petite Auberge was originally built for Stapp's Ice Cream Store. Mrs. Stapp leased the spot from the Northwestern Pacific for $15 per month. She wanted something different and Gus Costigan was just the man to do it because anything he builds is about as different as you can get. He bought and laid the bricks for $8 a thousand and charged her $1,500. This was a price to scream about in 1933—it was still in the depression.

Gus is a man only two years younger than I but the difference looks like ten or more. Not because the silver just starting at his temples has taken over my entire head, but he's got the trim, youthful figure to go with it. He's a sort of condensed 1950 model of Errol Flynn, more swarthy, less pretentious.

He has an active interest in boats, too, both sail and motor. If he weren't so busily engaged designing and building for people with artistic tastes but not structural technique you might find him more occupied with ketches and cruisers.

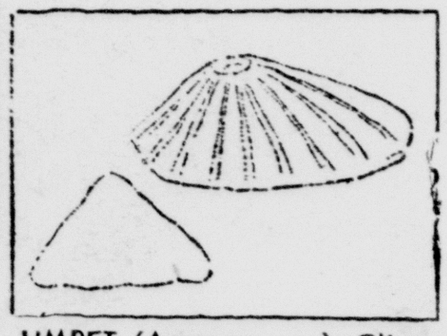

Gus does not always see eye to eyebeam with his clients. I have not checked into these aesthetic differences, but from the man himself I should judge that his best work is performed with a minimum of interference. Temperament? Okay—so you would tell a Rembrandt how he should paint your portrait?

Some Costigan-built homes are likely to be controversial. Depending upon your outlook you may consider them masterpieces or eccentric. Often they are built in high or precipitous places, with a panoramic view of heaven and all the construction problems of a stairway to the stars.

The Costigans' own dwelling was not Costigan built. It is typical of small homes along the San Rafael Creek, a concession to their lingering affinity for yachts and water. The property is large enough to justify erection of still another house on the canal side, and Gus visualizes commencement of such a project in the near future.

This time the structural heaviness of stones and beams will give way to the delicacy of Japanese architecture and landscaping, a phase of his profession already invaded by the Costigan touch.

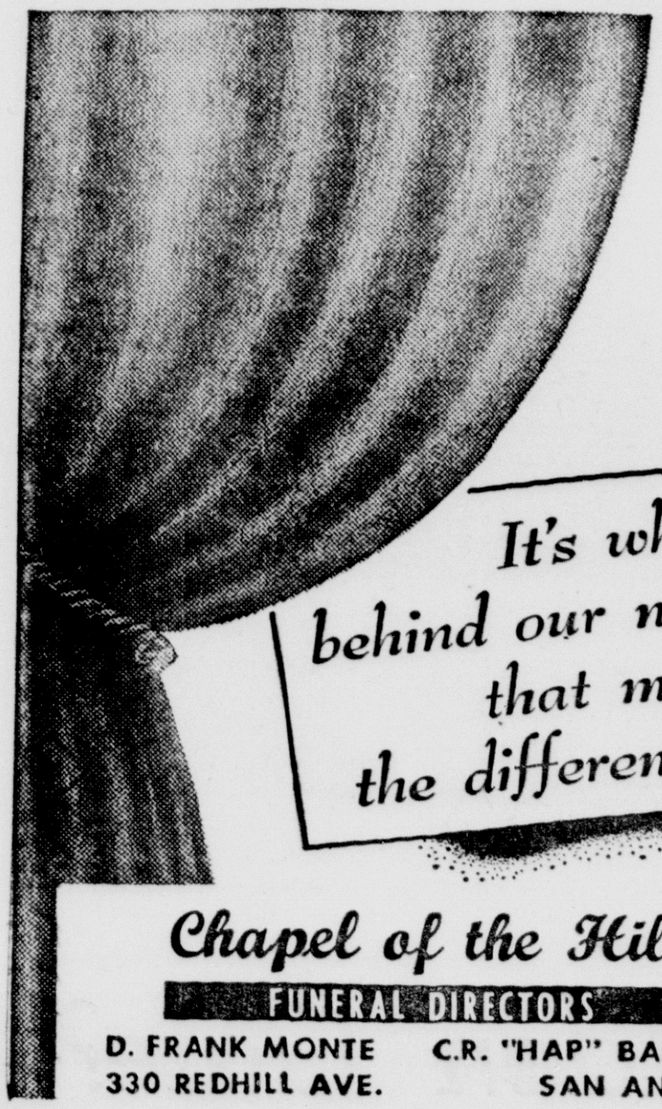

Gosh, how I get wound up. All I wanted to say was that the wisteria at La Petite Auberge is 26 years old — planted at the same time the place was built.

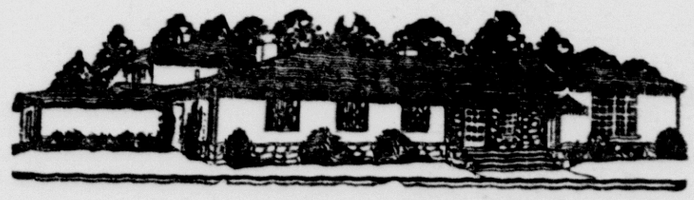

LIMPET (Acmaea sp.)—Clinging tightly to the rocks along the seashore you will find many cone-shaped shells not more than 1 to 1½ inches in diameter. The protective shell is held against the rock by a muscular "foot" which enables the Limpet to move sluggishly along. Some, with a top opening, we call Key hole Limpets. They vary in color from white to gray, black, or brown. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

She's First Individual To Win—

Meet 'World's Most Outstanding' Contributor To Amateur Swimming

By JIM GILMARTIN

The International Amateur Athletic Union annually presents an award to the world's outstanding contributor to amateur swimming.

In 1954 it was won by Japan. The next year it went to Argentina.

The third annual award—and the first ever presented to an individual—is proudly displayed on the mantel in the home at 118 Woodland Ave., San Anselmo. Its owner is Mrs. Jack Kaufman, "Beth" to you, and one of Marin County's most colorful personalities, known and respected throughout the nation for her work with the AAU.

A native Californian and resident of Marin since 1915, Mrs. Kaufman has dedicated the last 30-odd years of her life to swimming and water-safety with the American Red Cross, Scouts, AAU and recreation departments in Marin. At 64, she still works enthusiastically with youngsters and as an official with the AAU. "And I'll continue as long as I'm able," smiled Beth. "Youngsters and swimming are my hobbies.

"It's one of the greatest body developers and you don't become a champion with just two weeks training—it's a year-'round project.

"ALSO, SWIMMING has really become quite a family sport. The parents take a keen interest in the progress the kids are making. In fact, most of our AAU officials are parents of swimmers."

Her years of unselfish devotion to these hobbies reached the pinnacle of success in 1956 when the International AAU, at its convention in Los Angeles, made Mrs. Kaufman the first individual winner of its "Hopping Award." She was cited for her countless contributions to amateur swimming, including secretary of the United States Women's Olympic Swimming Committee in '56, delegate to national conventions, chaperone on foreign tours, official at major competition and, most important of all, originator and national chairman for the AAU's Age Group Program.

AAU officials consider the latter project one of competitive swimming's most important contributions, since it enables more youngsters to compete nationally. President Eisenhower cited it at the Youth Conference in 1955. More swimming, he said, means stronger bodies and minds; less juvenile delinquency.

TODAY THERE are more than 5,000 children enrolled in Age Group competition.

Age Group is so popular because it enables youngsters to compete in the AAU program on an equal basis. The groups are 10 and under, 11-12, 13-14 and 15-16. Before Age Group little guys were sometimes matched against seniors. No chance for a medal.

The AAU work has sent Mrs. Kaufman traveling through the country to conventions and meets in such places as Florida, New York, Chicago, Omaha and Los Angeles. She was selected to chaperone international aqua stars Pat McCormick and Shelly Mann on a good will tour of New Zealand in 1955 and the same year officiated in the Pan-American Games in Mexico City. Her itinerary in 1955 put Eleanor Roosevelt to shame.

While these AAU duties have won Mrs. Kaufman international recognition, she has accomplished what she considers her most important work right here in Marin County as American Red Cross instructor since 1929, instructor for the Boy Scouts for several years and coach of local teams. In fact, many of you reading this have learned swimming and life-saving techniques from Beth. And, oh my, weren't you the proud one after swimming the width of the pool for the first time.

WHY DOES one suddenly dedicate her life to the advancement of swimming and life-saving, as did Mrs. Kaufman at the age of 29? This chapter in her eventful life began in 1923 on a beach at Ventura, Calif., when, unable to help, she watched a personal friend drown.

"It was awful," she recalled the other day. "None of us on the beach knew the first thing about life-saving. We just stood there and watched him drown."

So right then the young Beth Kaufman enrolled in the life-saving class of the late Commodore Wilbur Longfellow who originated the Red Cross program.

From there Beth worked her way into local Red Cross, first as an assistant and in 1938 as county chairman. She has continued this work ever since, branching out into the Scouts' program for a period of years and later working into competitive coaching. Today, aside from her AAU work, she trains instructors for the Red Cross and coaches the Tamalpais Recreation Department's "Marin Pirates" team. A busy schedule, indeed.

In fact, Marin Magazine had quite a chore cornering her for this interview. She was commuting to Los Altos for the National AAU Men's Championships and in the meantime coaching at the Tam and Drake High pools. The I-J finally caught up with her early one morning, but it had to be quick. She was packing to leave for Redding where she was to officiate at the women's nationals. (Her meet duties, incidentally, usually are as clerk of course or timer).

The interview turned up an interesting and busy life that began in Stockton on Oct. 8, 1894 when Bethel Margaret was born to James Henry and Sarah Christine Stripling.

"I HAVE SOME interesting roots on my family tree," she chuckled "a mixture of Spanish, English, Scotch and Irish—and how do you like that combination?

"My great grandmother came from Spain to California long before it was United States Territory. My grandmother had an interesting life. At the age of 13 she married a 60-year-old Englishman and was a widow with two children at the age of 18." Switching to her paternal side, she continued, "My father's folks came west from Missouri following the Civil War. My father was Scotch-Irish and a blacksmith by trade. And a darned good one at that, I might say," she laughed.

When Bethel was eight years old the Stripling family, which also included two other girls and a boy, pulled up stakes and moved out of Stockton, settling for a period in the town of Jackass Hills in the Mother Lode mining country. In 1906 ma, pa and the kids arrived in San Francisco, setting up housekeeping at Third and Tehama streets. But that wasn't for long, for about two months after their arrival—April 18, 1906, to be exact—the Striplings and thousands of other San Franciscans were left homeless by the great earthquake and fire. "I can remember it well," Beth said. "The house was on fire when dad hustled us out to a horse and wagon at 6 in the morning and took us out to the park where we camped for about a week."

After the fire Beth completed her grammar schooling at the old refugee shack which was to become "Franklin Grammar School," graduating in 1909 and later attending Humboldt Evening High.

Always a lover of the great outdoors, Beth was a charter member of the California Alpine Club, and is thankful for it, for it was on one of the club's hikes to Mount Tamalpais in 1917 that she met Jack Kaufman. She admits having quite a crush on Jack.

"BELIEVE ME, he wasn't an easy catch. It took me four years of dragging him over the hills on our club hikes to catch him." Jack and Bethel were married in San Francisco on June 4, 1921.

For the 12 years prior to her marriage Bethel worked as a printer with California Press in San Francisco and was night foreman at the time of her retirement.

The printers' ink never left her veins, however, as she has continued to write for publications through the years. Old time Independent readers will remember her weekly column on animals written for the Humane Society. She still contributes pieces on AAU activities to that organization's magazine.

THE KAUFMANS have two children and nine grandchildren, "and all nine are full of ginger," the proud grandmother boasts. Son Jerry, 34, an executive with Boeing Aircraft in Seattle, has three boys and two girls. Daughter Rose Murray, 28, of Idaho Falls, Idaho has three boys and a girl.

In concluding her story, Mrs. Kaufman smiled broadly:

"You know, I've had an extremely happy life, a marvelous husband and wonderful children and grandchildren. I've kept busy with my hobbies. Lord only knows how many persons I've taught to swim, but if I am responsible for saving just one life then I feel my years of teaching have been successful."

PROFILE OF THE WEEK—Beth Kaufman instructs some of her swim students as she has for more than 30 years in methods of water safety. "Youngsters and swimming are my hobbies," she says—something of an understatement.

BETH KAUFMAN is originator and national chairman of the AAU Age Group Program which was cited by President Eisenhower at the 1955 Youth Conference. It enables more youngsters to compete in swimming nationally. (Independent-Journal photos)

MUSICAL SESSIONS are the rule rather than the exception when the Wolohan family comes to Inverness for the summer months. Margie, left, performs on the harp while her older sister Catherine plays one of the family's two grand pianos. It is interesting to compare photograph with painting on next page.

AGNES WOLOHAN with her father as accompanist performs songs from "My Fair Lady." Here she sings "I Could Have Danced All Night." They will perform at the piano in the fall when Holy Names College in Oakland presents Mr. Wolohan's composition "Holy Names Suite," which he wrote in honor of Agnes' high school graduation there. She had a musical scholarship through her four years of high school. (Independent-Journal photos)

Musical Family At Inverness

Piano, Harp, Voice, Violin Echo In Summertime At Highland Lodge

With the arrival of summer, music comes to old Highland Lodge, situated on the ridge between first and second valleys at Inverness. That is when the John I. Wolohan family of Berkeley begins three months summer residence.

For the 15th summer the music of Bach, Beethoven, Mozart, Ravel, Debussy and of Mr. Wolohan himself issues from the two grand pianos and a harp. And for the musical comedy songs and operettas the voices of the Wolohan children take up the verse.

All of the five youngsters, Catherine, 21; Agnes, 18; John, 15; Margie, 14 and Rosemary, almost 9, take part in impromptu performances in the dining room of the old home.

This is not strange when you realize that their father is a composer and has had his own dance band since he opened at Sweet's Ballroom in Oakland in 1923. Since 1927 he has played at El Patio in San Francisco and in 1946 bought that ballroom establishment from the Poetz' of Kentfield. He and his nephew, Terence Wolohan of Berkeley, are the owners now. A smile lights John Wolohan's face as he says, "People who used to dance at Sweet's in the early days now bring their children and grandchildren to dance to the band."

But at Inverness the musical sessions are a family affair. The girls like selections from musical comedy, and Agnes, the voice student, steps toward the piano when her father settles to play accompaniment for "My Fair Lady."

When Agnes was graduated from Holy Names High School in Oakland, her father wrote "Holy Names Suite" which will be given this fall by Holy Names College with he and Agnes at the piano.

Both Agnes and Catherine, the eldest, are students at Holy Names College, and study music with private tutors. The two girls perform as duo-pianists, and Agnes attended her four years of high school with a scholarship she won in piano. She studies voice with Agatha Turley of San Francisco.

Cathy and Agnes both have scholarships to college, Agnes holding a California Scholarship Federation award and Cathy a president's scholarship. The latter is now president of the French Honor Society, Phi Delta Phi, and her group will meet at the roomy Highland Lodge at Inverness later this summer.

Margie, who is a high school student, studies the harp, a glamorous looking instrument which she plays in the dark-wood - paneled living room with one of her sisters at the piano on many an evening when neighbors and friends from Inverness gather. She also is proficient on piano, and studies harp with Sister Margaret Patricia, who is Senator McCarran's daughter.

Her brother John, 15 is a student at St. Mary's in Berkeley and, as his youngest sister says, "Likes to play baseball and basketball." But he also plays piano and joins in when the whole family gathers to sing their father's songs.

And Rosemary, who will be nine this month, has had a piano background and is just taking up the study of the violin. Her instructor will likely be her aunt, Mrs. Frances Alvord of Ross, who is a

The President of the United States has chosen COMPONENT HIGH FIDELITY STEREOPHONIC music systems to be shown and demonstrated in the heart of the Soviet Union. The American National Exhibition which opened in Moscow, July 25th for 6 weeks, will show the Russians a tiny cross-section of the United States. They will see how Americans live, how they play, what they wear, what newspapers and magazines they read, what they cook for dinner, what hi-fi records they listen to, and the American trend for using COMPONENT TYPE STEREO units for their home music systems.

The Russians will be able to see and hear the high quality American amplifiers, tuners and loudspeaker systems; however, they cannot purchase these items. YOU, the American Public, can come into our Hi-Fi store and listen to these same high quality COMPONENTS, but you have the priceless advantage that you can purchase these same COMPONENTS for use in your own home. member of Mr. Wolohan's band.

The youngsters are quick to name the accomplishments of their father, whose "San Francisco Bay" was performed by the Golden Gate park band and is recorded. Other recordings he is making include piano solos such as "Reverie," or "Jo-Ann." He has also composed three suites and many songs, "Butterfly," "Springtime of Life," and "Say," to name a few. He was delighted to hear that during the war one of his songs was being played in a Tokyo night club, carried there by U.S. sailors.

He has also had fun doing what he calls "experiment in co-existence in music" which means making unusual combinations in songs. Some he has combined are "Clair De Lune" and "Blue Moon" and another pair — "Stormy Weather" and "Blue Moon."

"Sometimes they take a little adjusting," he explains. "But it is amazing what you can do."

Mr. Wolohan wanted his children each to have a good background on piano before they began the study of other instruments. They have become used to performing for groups of Marin friends and the youngsters quietly agree to play when asked by visitors.

Their father is proud of the fact that they can play any kind of music. And their selections lean toward the melodic operetta and songs from musicals as well as the classics.

When not busied by their musical pursuits, during the Marin summers the youngsters take off for the beaches in the Tomales and Drake's Bay areas and they trek next door to watch television at their friend Mrs. Lucian Knight's house.

Mrs. Knight also entertains them with accounts of the early times at Highland Lodge, Where she had lived.

Mrs. Knight recalls the terrifying night of the 1906 earthquake, which ripped through the Inverness area. She and several friends who were teachers were spending their Easter vacation at Highland Lodge, owned by Mary F. Burris. When the quakes came no one was hurt, miraculously.

"But," said Mrs. Knight, "There was a pine tree in the music room; the doors jammed; jars of jam and beans smashed into the bedroom, and a closet door and rocking chair landed in my bed."

One of the beds slid down the stairs to the bottom; the fireplace wall of the living room crashed out, and the whole house moved eight feet into the road, she said.

The lodge was not built as a lodge, Mrs. Knight explained. Mary Burris came from Delaware to Berkeley and wished to built a home in Inverness. She built the home, having no idea of having a summer resort. But when friends saw it they begged her to let them stay. Miss Burris came to Inverness to write, but she got little writing done. By March, 1902 her "home" was full of guests. In subsequent years it became known all over the United States as Highland Lodge and people came from the East to stay there.

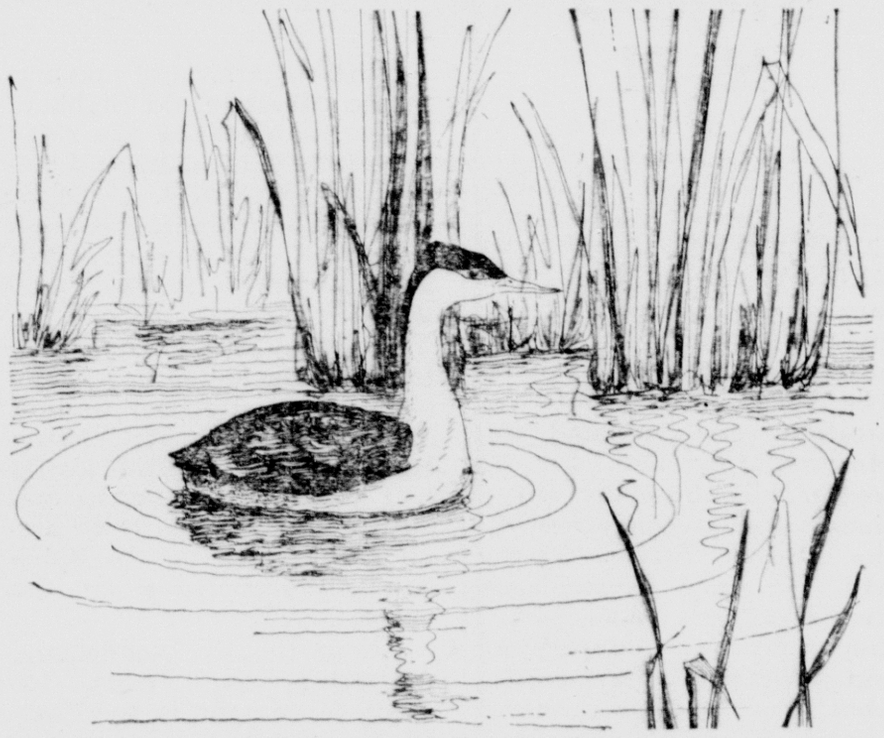

When the original owner died Mrs. Knight found the Wolohan family to take it, for whom she says it "is just right."

Grebe May Be Low On Totem Pole But He's Bird Who Doesn't Care

Grebes are ranked rather low in the scale of bird evolution by scientists, but this fact doesn't seem to bother the grebe at all. It would be difficult to find a bird that is better suited to its chosen habitat. Grebes are in the order of diving birds which includes the loons, auks, murres, and puffins; all are ideally adapted to a life on water but are clumsy on land.

The western grebe is the largest of our local grebes and is easily identified by its size and coloration. The western grebe is a black and white bird with a long swan-like neck and inconspicuous tail. The top of the head, back of the neck, and top of the body are pure black; the under parts are snowy white. The head has slightly developed crests over the ears. The total length of the western grebe is about 27 inches including the long pointed bill.

Most of the grebe's life is spent on or under the water of the bays and fresh water stream and ponds. The feet of the grebe are lobed or fringed on each toe with a fleshy process that forms an ideal paddle for swimming and diving. Anyone that has observed grebes will testify that they spend as much, if not more, time under water as upon it. Their ability to slip under water and reappear many yards away can be very confusing to the observer with field glasses.

Grebes feed on fish and other aquatic life which they secure during their dives. It is doubtful whether they eat the commercially desirable fish to any degree. It is known that grebes eat feathers, usually from their own bodies, in rather considerable amounts; the purpose behind this is not known however.

ARTIST'S drawing shows Francis Drake landing in Marin County and in the background his ship, the Golden Hind, is careened on the beach for repair of leaks after it had sailed up the South American coast a year and a half from Portsmouth, England. Drake anchored off Marin after weathering severe storm off the Oregon Coast and turned south. Drake Navigator's Guild has established Drakes Esterro as the landing place. Robert H. Power suggests the Tiburon or San Quentin shore.

Drake's Esterro Or Golden Gate?

Robert Power Presents Theory That Golden Hind Entered Bay

By ROBERT H. POWER

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following are excerpts from Robert H. Power's speech to the California Historical Society that Sir Francis Drake sailed the Golden Hind through the Golden Gate and anchored in San Francisco Bay. His theory is in controversy with those who believe that Drake anchored in Drake's Esterro, never finding the Bay. The Historical Society states that it "stimulates but does not settle such controversies." Power is an amateur historian who lives in Vacaville.

"'The Golden Hind' entered the Golden Gate on June 17, 1579 under the command of Francis Drake, and came to anchor in San Francisco Bay.

"The truth about the Drake voyage was concealed until after the Spanish Armada was destroyed in 1588. The following year there was published the first account of the voyage by Richard Hakluyt and the first map of the voyage by Jodocus Hondius. The Spanish knew by 1590 that Drake had discovered a 'fair and good bay' 38 degrees in Western North America and they had a map of the bay."

By 1781, and many explorers later, the modern controversy began as to where Drake had anchored. Daines Barrington concluded that Drake had landed in Tomales Bay.

"Vancouver, the second Englishman to sail to California, accepted the traditional Spanish opinion that it was Drakes Bay." In 1802 Aaron Arrowsmith suggested that it was Bodega Bay, and in 1803 James Burney in London concluded that the "Golden Hind" had entered San Francisco Bay.

"IN 1954 I was making a superficial investigation of the Drake question and discovered that the 'Portus Plan,' the only map of what Drake named the Port of Nova Albion, resembled San Francisco Bay . . . In 1956 the findings of the Drakes Navigator's Guild were made known favoring Drakes Esterro rather than Drakes Bay proper.

"We know that Drake went no further south than the Golden Gate because the Plate of Brass was found on the Marin Shore of San Francisco Bay, and we can be certain that he did come as far as Point Reyes because the white cliffs on the south side . . . are the only cliffs in this area of California that resemble the white cliffs of Southern England, a resemblance that made Drake name this country Nova Albion.

"The sole reason Drake would not have discovered the Golden Gate is if he had stopped at Drakes Bay. But if he passed Drakes Bay by, as he had Bodega Bay and Tomales Bay, then Drake discovered the Golden Gate, and entered San Francisco Bay. Otherwise Drake would have gone on toward Monterey.

"Thus we begin our investigation safely with the knowledge that Drake discovered either Drakes Bay or San Francisco Bay."

Observations of Francis Fletcher, chaplain of the Golden Hind, according to Drake's nephew and Hakluyt, state that the ship came within 38 degrees toward the line, a fair and good bay, with a good wind to enter same.

"THE PEOPLE of the country showed themselves, sending off a man to use in a canoe. June 21, the ship having received a leak at sea was brought to anchor nearer the shore. Our general called this country Nova Albion, and that for the white banks and cliffs which lie toward the sea . . ."

The Golden Hind weighed anchor July 23. "Not far without this harbor," the Fletcher account stated, "did lie certain lands . . . which we fell July 24."

"The Plate of Brass by Francis Drake was discovered at 37 degrees 57 minutes. This establishes the accuracy of the statement that the anchorage was '. . . within 38 degees toward the line.' This . . . establishes that the white banks and cliffs are those on the south side of Point Reyes facing what is now Drakes Bay. As Drake came from the north, this reference to the white cliffs eliminates all points north of Point Reyes. . .

"THE PHYSICAL finding of the plate of brass in Marin eliminates all anchorages south of the Golden Gate. Thus the only anchorages that can qualify . . . are Drakes Bay, Drakes Esterro, Bolinas and San Francisco.

". . . The white cliffs lie toward the sea. Fletcher therefore did not consider the water in front of the cliffs at Drakes Bay as a 'good and fair bay' or a 'Convenient and fit harbor' but rather part of the sea, which of course it is."

"Toward the sea also suggests that Fletcher was inland from the cliffs. Drakes Bay can be removed from consideration as the bay of Nova Albion. Bolinas has never been seriously considered.

"The written information concerning the description characteristics, quality, entry, movement within, and departure from the anchorage place tends to testify against Drakes Esterro also. Normal sailing caution would have caused Drake to round Point Reyes at a distance of two to three miles from the shore. The crescent shape of the south side of Point Reyes would place the Golden Hind at a minimum of four miles from Drakes Esterro. Thus the entrance would have been next to impossible to notice. . . "

"The most important single piece of evidence in the search for the Bay of Nova Albion is the cartographic evidence presented by Jodocus Hondius on his map, 'The whole truth of Nautical Expeditions of the Francis Drake Circumnavigation, in addition to the Navigations of Thomas Cavendish.'

"WHERE OR HOW Jodocus Hondius actually secured the whole truth of the Drake voyage is uncertain, but since it was published in London about 1589 it must have had the endorsement of Queen Elizabeth or Drake. The key piece of evidence in this matter is the Plan of the Moluccas that appears in one corner of the nautical expeditions map. A similar Plan of Moluccas was engraved on a

Press Pass

We're all for the press-pass and freedom of the press. But there is one "freedom of the press" that is detrimental to a well-groomed appearance. Your clothes never stop talking about you—that is why it is important to understand why it is not recommended that your suit or dress be "Pressed only." Granted, there may be occasions when your garment may need pressing only. But this should be the exception rather than the rule for good clothes care.

Problems arise from "Press only" service of dry cleaning. Practically everything that is worn and sent to a dry cleaner for pressing has SOME soil and perspiration embedded in the fabric. The heat and steam of pressing or finishing makes it more difficult to remove the soil later on. Perspiration that is allowed to remain in a fabric may generate an unpleasant odor that is far from flattering to your fastidiousness. The perspiration also has a deteriorating effect on dyes, fibers and fabrics.

We have noticed, that attempts have been made to remove spots at home. This method can be both costly and DANGEROUS. Cleaning fluid fumes can be touched off by a pilot light or a lighted cigarette, even an electric spark from a flat iron, or from rubbing cloth together can result in an explosion. And home spotting can also be ruinous to your clothes, by color loss and damage to the fabrics. Leave the spot removing to your cleaner. He should be a professional. We reiterate, no spot should ever be pressed into a fabric. Contact with heat or steam of pressing with an iron ages and sets the stain and makes it next to impossible for your dry cleaner to remove it from the fabric without taking a pair of shears and cutting it out. Aside from the hazard of stains, "press only" seldom gives a garment the same fresh, clean look you get when the garment is dry cleaned and pressed. Regardless of how neatly pressed a suit or dress may be, if it has a dingy cast it just doesn't spell good grooming.

SAND CRAB (Emerita analoga)—Sand Crabs live in the shifting wave-washed sand. As the water sweeps in they may swim about momentarily but, as the wave recedes, they burrow into the sand, burying themselves rapidly until just their slender eye stalks and uncoiled antennae are out in the water. The extended antennae produce little V-shaped ripple marks on the beach as they strain out tiny food particles. The crabs themselves are eaten by fish and shore-birds, and are gathered by fishermen for bait. Adults are steel-gray above and pinkish-white below. They always move backwards, and may be 1½ to 2 inches long. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin, copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

"OUR GENERALL called this country Nova Albion, and that for . . . the white bankes and cliffes which lie toward the sea . . ." Francis Fletcher account of the Drake voyage described what has come to believed to be the white cliffs of Drakes Bay on the ocean, for which they named the land, because they resembled their native England. THE GOLDEN HIND as painted by artist Warren Chase Merritt of Olema in 1955. Drake sailed the craft, formerly named the "Pelican," after he had convinced Queen Elizabeth that a voyage to the Pacific Ocean would bring gold and silver, up the coast of South America and on toward Oregon, capturing ship and town as he went. By the time he reached Mexico the ship was lying low in the water laden with treasure. It was after that the Golden Hind anchored off Marin.

Golden Coconut Cup that was presented to Drake in 1580 ... by Queen Elizabeth.

"This cup was presumably manufactured by Elizabeth's jeweler who may have had permission to consult the documents in the Queen's possession for material to use in the design. The principal if not only document in her possession was the log of the Golden Hind and the charts and watercolor illustrations that accompanied this document.

"THUS THERE IS a good chance that the information presented on the Nautical Expeditions map was also taken from the log of the Golden Hind before it became permanently 'lost.'

". . . The final corner plan of the map is Nova Albion Portus Plan . . . I began to play a cartographic version of conderella. Suddenly I found the matching geography by enlarging the Portus peninsula to the same size as the Tiburon peninsula on the Thomas Bros. map of Marin County." (See pages 10 and 11).

"The Portus island assumed the position of Belvedere, the Portus peninsula the position of Tiburon, the upper arc of the Portus assumed the shape of San Quentin-San Rafael shoreline, the straight line corresponded to the position of the Straits of San Pablo, and the opposite headline matched the Contra Costa shore. The 38th parallel passes through the southern portion of San Pablo Bay and thus would cross the Portus Plan also.

"My opinion . . . is that the original Portus Plan was drawn from the deck of the Golden Hind as it rode at anchor the second through the fourth day after it had entered San Francisco Bay . . .

"If we knew that the Portus Plan depicted 80 square miles this would be positive proof that the Golden Hind entered the Golden Gate.

"However the island and peninsula are so similar to Belvedere and Tiburon that scale is not vital. There is no similar island-peninsula on the California coast . . . that ..embles this Portus Plan feature, let alone in the correct position of 38 degrees. The Drake Navigator's Guild reported . . . several years ago that they believed it correlated to Drakes Esterro.

They argued that the Portus peninsula was a sand spit and the island a sand island that were temporarily formed in 1579. Evidence that the Portus peninsula is not a spit is, . . . under the Portus PlanaLatin text, "By sacrifices in the mountains, the inhabitants deplore the departure of Drake." . . . Hondius thought he was drawing a mountainous peninsula and not a sand spit, for he put an Indian in the center of it building a fire. The highest portion of the Tiburon Peninsula corresponds to the location of the Indian. A mountainous peninsula provides a large dimension since mountains only exist in a large area, and thus it can be assumed that the Portus peninsula and Tiburon peninsula are of about the same dimension and the comparative maps the same scale.

"We commenced this investigation with the knowledge that Francis Drake had anchored either in the Drakes Bay area or inside the Golden Gate. We analyzed the written accounts that 'a faire and good baye' is more descriptive of San Francisco Bay than any other bay in California. We found that a good wind would have added to the danger of entering Drakes Esterro but a typical seasonal breeze if the Golden Gate was entered.

"WE FOUND that Francis Fletcher considered the water in front of the white cliffs was the sea and not a fair and good bay. We noted that it was an overnight journey to the Farallons, a fact that would not be true if the Golden Hind had been anchored in Drakes Esterro.

We found that conies were ground squirrels; the fat deer were tule elk; the herb-like lettuce was milkweed, and that the trees without leaves were buckeye trees; and that the only part of Marin where all of this flora and fauna can be seen in the last part of July is in the Novato area of Marin.

"We gave the Nova Albion Portus Plan a certificate of authenticity by linking it to the log of the Golden Hind, and then oriented it with the features of northern San Francisco Bay. We further noted that Jodocus Hondius, who drew the Portus Plan, placed an Indian making a sacrifice fire on the Portus peninsula and thus conclusively established that it has a larger dimension than a sand spit, in fact a dimension large enough so that one must conclude that the Portus Plan is San Francisco Bay or that it is imaginary.

"WE FOUND THAT Hondius' 1611-27 map depicted a peninsula with nearly the same form as the Marin peninsula, and that by accepting the 1611-27 inner peninsula and the Portus Peninsula is one and the same, the Portus Plan is given scale, direction and position.

"WE MENTIONED the greatness of the Plate of Brass, and that it was found on a Greenbrae hill overlooking San Francisco Bay, and there is no evidence that man, white or Indian, had ever moved it. The discovery site of the Plate of Brass corresponds to where the ship is anchored in the Portus Plan. Finally we inspected an old print by Arnold Montanus, and found that he was an heir to the Hondius-Montanus legacy and the landscape in his picture resembles the landscape where the Plate of Brass was found.

"The evidence is overwhelming and thus conclusive that the Golden Hind entered the Golden Gate."

FRANCIS FLETCHER, chaplain on the Drake voyage, recorded that the company observed "very large and fat deere . . ." which were gathered by the thousands. These have been supposed to be tule elk, which inhabited the marsh lands adjacent to the Bay, according to Robert H. Power. (John Howell Books)

"TREES WITHOUT leaves and ground without greenes in those months of June and July." July began by modern calendar June 27. The California buckeye, above, is thought to be the variety described by Fletcher. "It must be assumed that these trees were on the hillsides in the Novato region because five miles west or south this does not occur in July," Power said. (Nova Albion Explorations)

PORT OF NOVA ALBION

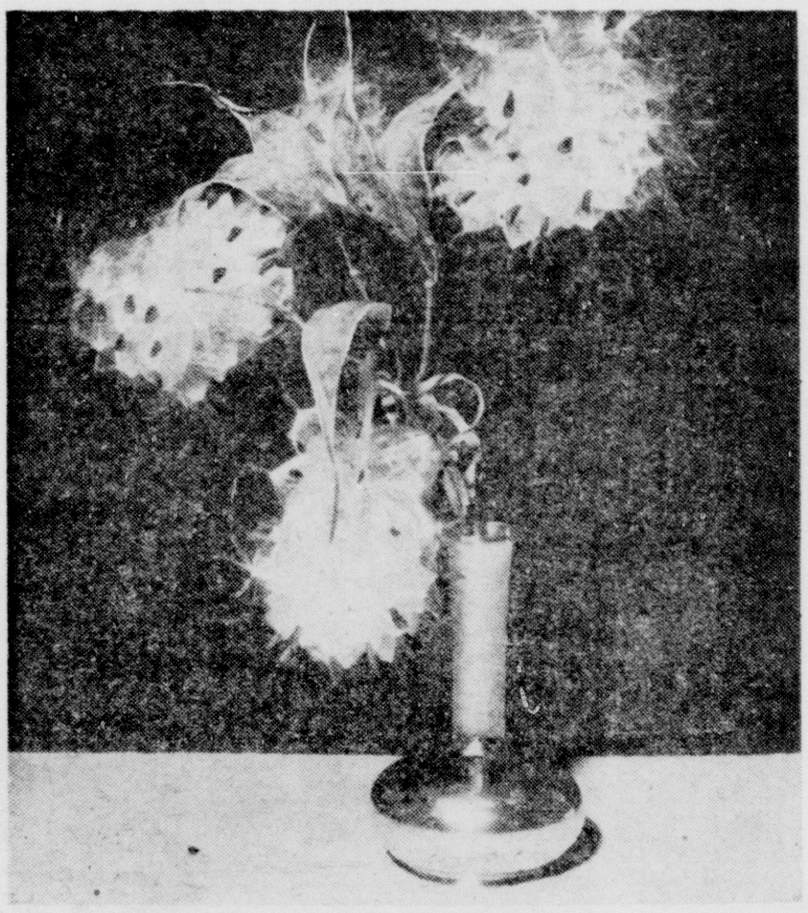

NORTHERN SAN FRANCISCO BAY

PORTUS PLAN by Jodocus Hondius was published in London in 1589 as part of a decorative map depicting the voyage of Francis Drake in the Golden Hind. It has, Robert Power pointed out, a close resemblance to San Francisco Bay. The Port of Nova Albion was reported to be 38° as is the map. (Nova Albion Exploration)

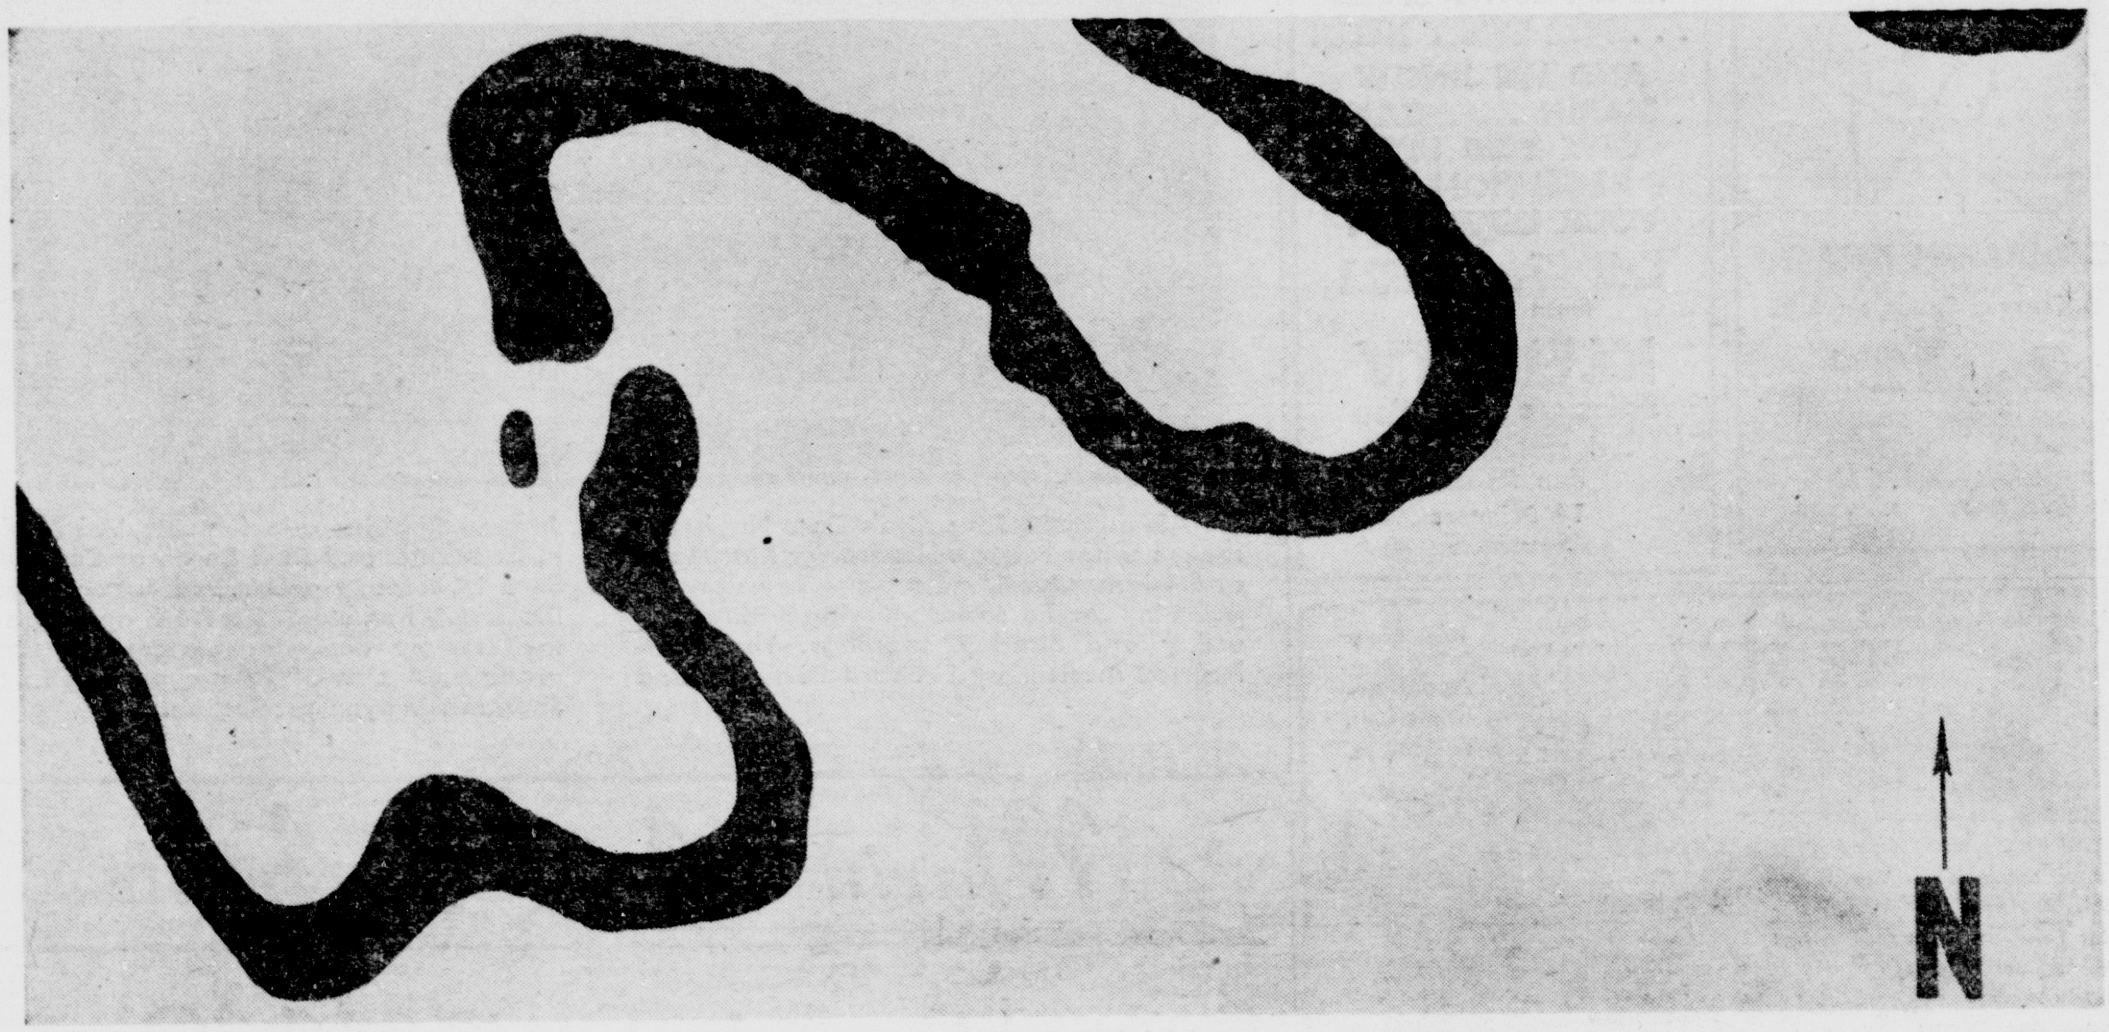

DESCRIBED by Fletcher in his account of the anchorage are "a strange kind of conies." "There can be no doubt," Robert Power has concluded, "That the cony is the California ground squirrel," and most abundant near Novato. (Paciifc Discovery)

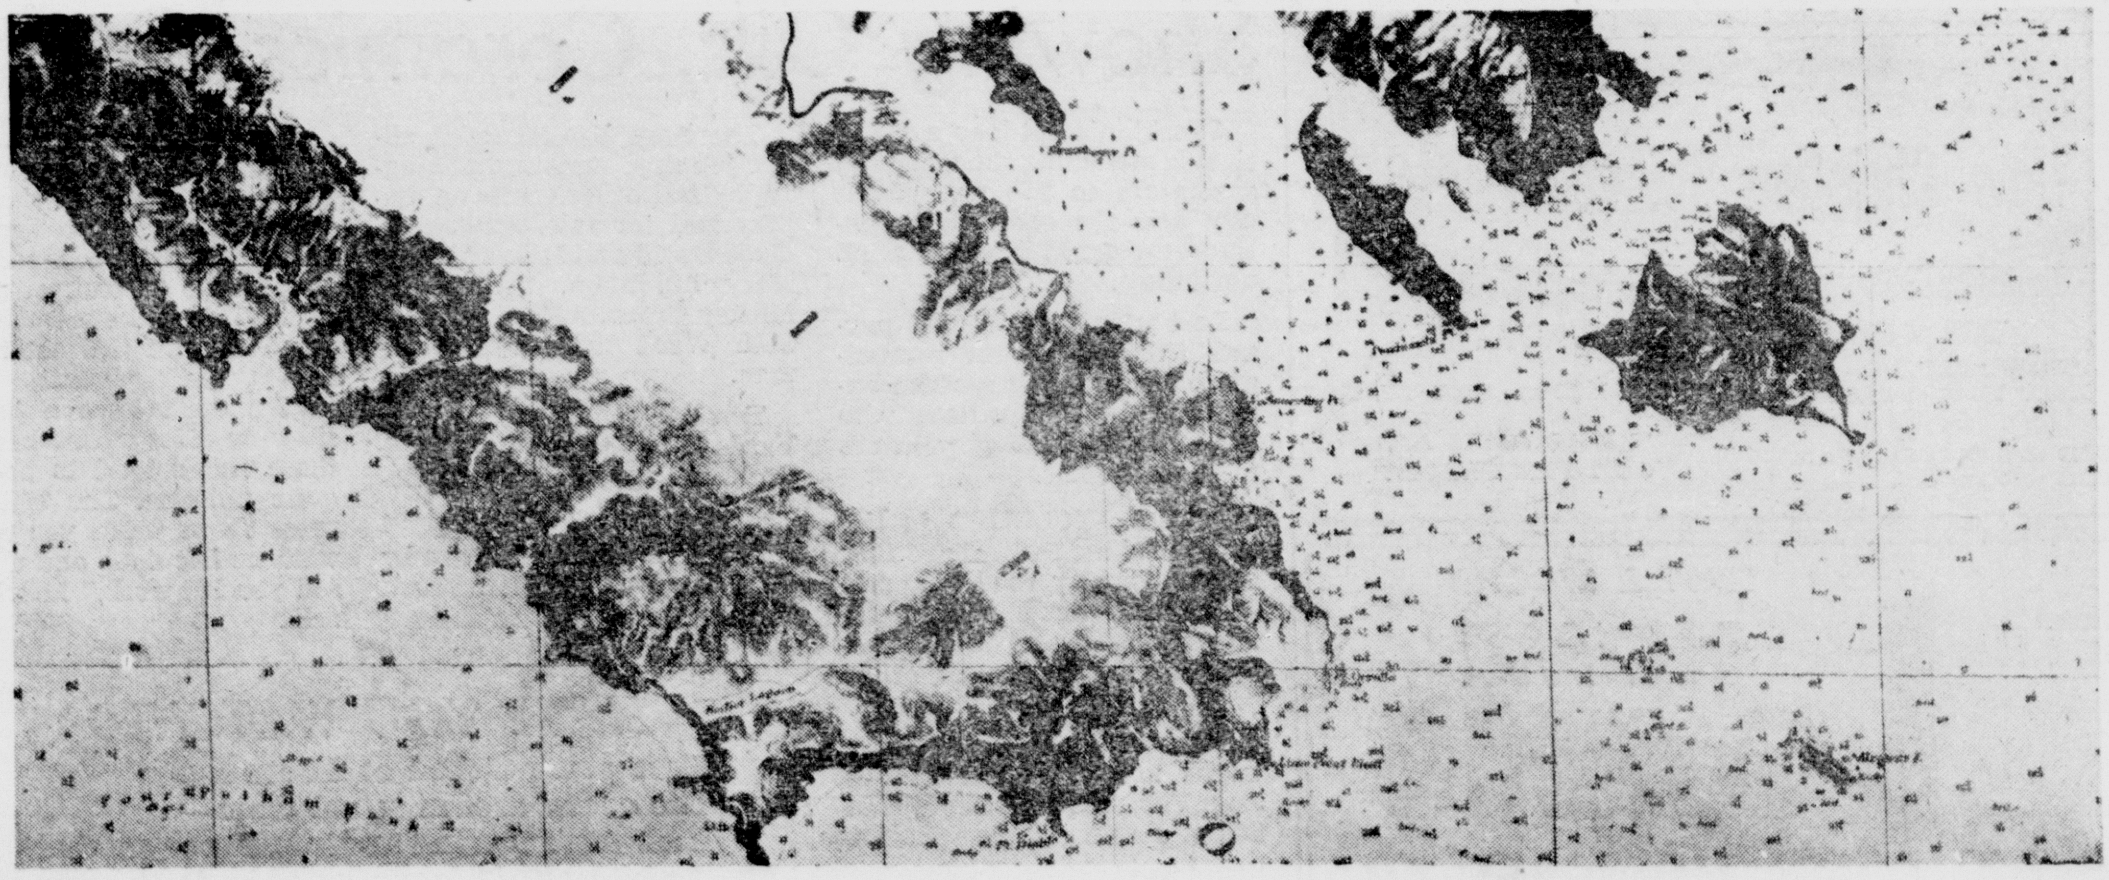

"A CERTAIN downe, which groweth up in the countrey upon an herbe much like our lectuce . . ." wrote Fletcher, a description leading Power to believe that this herb was American milkweed, as both have a milk in their stem and could be found at its best in the warmest climate. This is more evidence that Drake explored the Novato area, Power said. (Power Graphic)

MONTANUS print made in 1671 shows the crowning of Francis Drake. Montanus was an heir to the Jodocus Hondius legacy. Hondius was an expert engraver who associated with Drake in London and who printed a map of the explorations. Mr. Power points out the resemblance of the hills, above, to San Quentin peninsula and Angel Island outlines. (Nova Albion Expedition)

ENLARGEMENT OF Jodocus Hondius' map of the Drake anchorage of Nova Albion led Robert Power to pursue idea that the Golden Hind entered the Golden Gate and came to anchor off Tiburon peninsula or San Quentin. The area had geographical conformation with Marin County, he said.

THE FIRST ENGLISH exploration, according to Robert Power, of what was to become the United States, occurred between the Golden Gate and Novato Valley the summer of 1579. Power suggests that Drake anchored the Golden Hind near Angel Island and then sailed to Tiburon or San Quentin shore to repair leaks. Compare aerial view with enlargement of the Hondius map above. The lighthearted musical by Leonard Bernstein and Jerome Robbins also features Val Bleeker of Sausalito and Russ Boren of Corte Madera in comedy parts. Sausalito Arts Festival Is On Showing Oils, Ceramics, Crafts

Sausalito's outdoor art festival is attracting thousands of spectators to the waterfront city and the show will continue tomorrow from 10 a. m. until dark.

Last year about 25,000 persons thronged to the municipal parking lot to see the exhibition by 150 artists who range from Sunday painters to professionals.

ALSO INCLUDED in the events for the festival are folk singing, poetry readings, and dramatic scenes from "On the Town" playing at the Sausalito Gate Theater, plus other productions.

There are also ceramics, silver jewelry, weaving, photography and other crafts on display and for sale. Artists include David and Helen Morris, Mary Lindheim, Ed Spolin, Mickey Grant, Alice Shannon, Seth Wood and Joel Waldman.

Tomorrow afternoon Jean Varda will speak on "The Problems of the Artist in Today's Society."

POETRY READINGS are by Gerd Stern, George Hitchcock and Margolis.

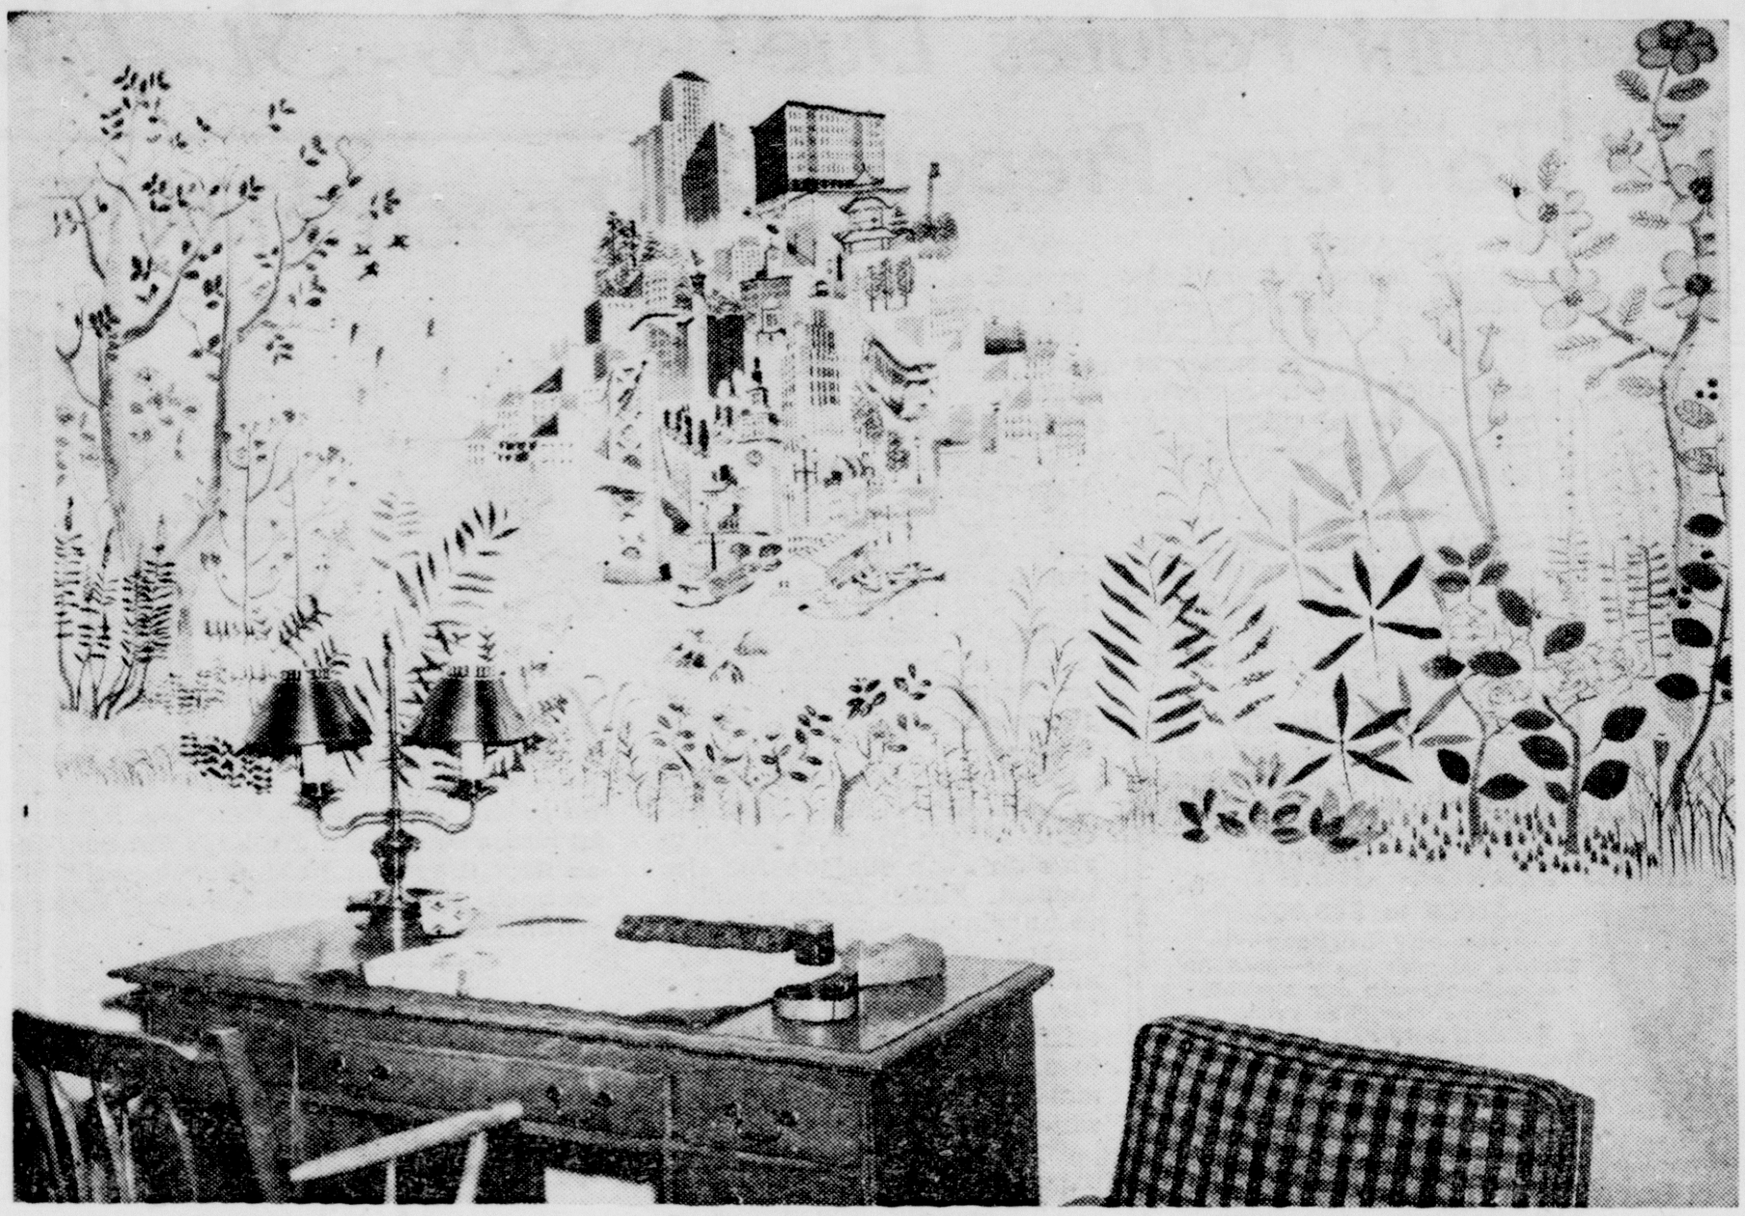

Henry T. Malcheski, who has headed the group for five shows, explains that the Sausalito show is centered around artists who paint because most people like to look at paintings. "This is the main difference between this show and others," he explains.

"We don't have a judged show or offer prizes because those shows tend to become quite uniform. The artist in these shows wants you to see what he has done and also to sell you his work," Malcheski said.

Frank G. Slaughter's 'Lorena' Is Traditional Novel Of South

LORENA, Edited by Frank G. Slaughter; Doubleday and Company; 262 pp., $3.95.

Reviewed by
PATRICIA ZINN

Storyteller Frank G. Slaughter turns from his popular Biblical and Roman settings to that of the Old South in his latest novel "Lorena."

The edition is but the historical novelist's assent to the age-old phenomenon that the Southern belle is a fragile beauty, has boundless courage, war-sharpened cunning and, above all, is wed to the land. Here it is the Georgia plantation.

The heroine in this instance is dark-eyed Lorena whose husband eventually goes off to join up with the Confederate forces and leaves her to defend Selby Hall.

Slaughter does not deviate from the pattern when during General William T. Sherman's march to the sea, a tall, smiling Yankee Pennsylvania colonel and his company ride up to camp on the plantation grounds.

How Lorena safeguards Selby Hall is the gist of the story.

The narrative moves along at an exciting pace and Slaughter again manages to capture the setting—the old South with all its dialect, beauty and charm and the reader cannot escape the scent of jasmine.

THE LITTLE DISTURBANCES OF MAN by Grace Paley; Doubleday, $3.50, 189 pp.

A really fine, tender and bawdy, dialect and straight-man collection of short stories. Bittersweet, they float between the world of adult and juvenile on a stream of dialogue that is at once placid and racing but always true to the inner ear of reality.

This deals with the problems of urban marriages, not always solved conventionally, and the insurmountable, unanswerable queries of the teen-ager. W.H.

THE MEN FROM THE BUSH by Ronald Hardy, Doubleday; $3.75, 191 pp.

This is a long short story—and tells of a 16 year old's wandering in the African bush in search of a kidnapped four-year-old native. It sometimes reads like a dreamy poem but captures effectively enough, the heat, the smell and the background of Africa—and a native populace working to get out from under British rule. W.H.

THE LIGHT WITHIN US, Albert Schweitzer, The Philosophical Library, $2.75, 58 pages.

This is a short work collecting the pithy paragraphs summing up the philosophy of the humanitarian healer. It combines bits from his many writings most of which sum up his feelings that man must help his brother through the desire to do so, not as a duty. He should help him man to man, not organization to organization.

This pleasant book with its short but meaty paragraphs is recommended for those who like to read for five minutes before bedtime and want some food for thought in spare moments. It is a book that can be reread several times. —B.H.

PETER STUYVESANT AND HIS NEW YORK, by Eugene Rachlis and Henry Kessler; Random House.

Stuyvesant was a martinet who tried for 17 years to make over New Amsterdam to conform to his own ideas. He failed because, then as now, New York had a character of its own.

The authors offer a lively narrative about a man, a city and the people who defeated old Peter Stuyvesant.

THE MAN WITH TWO SHADOWS, by Robin Maugham, Harpers.

Lord Maugham's fifth novel charges into a Jekyll-Hyde split-personality theme with such clean, simple writing in this thriller that it should strike pride in the breast of that old literary lion, Maughham's uncle Somerset.

His hero is engaged in security work for British Intelligence when he becomes subject to recurring blackouts as a result of a war-time head injury. He emerges from these periods to find himself up to his ears in a web of mystery and violence.

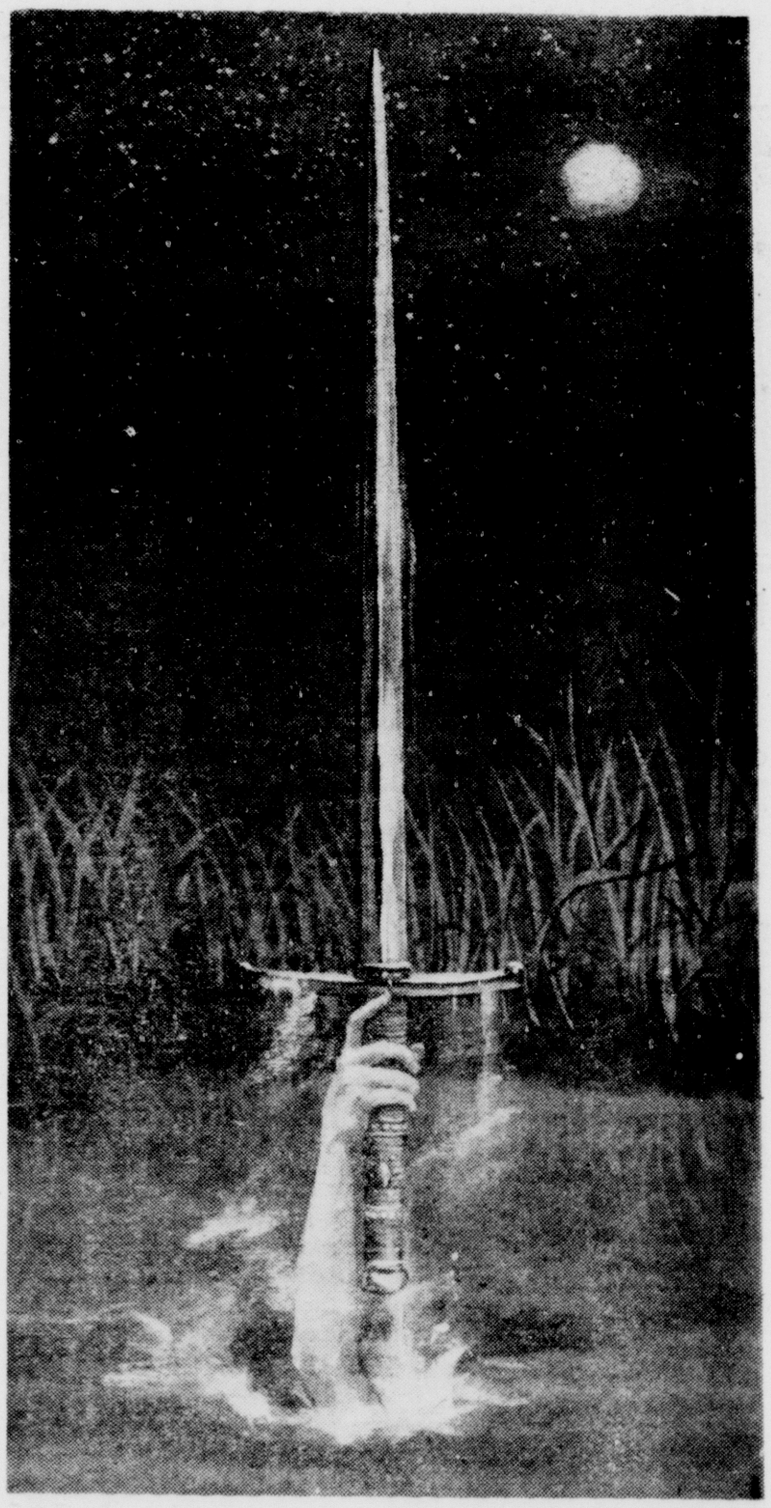

THE COMMUNIST WORLD AND OURS, by Walter Lippmann, Atlantic-Little Brown and Co. $2, pp. 56.

This small volume is of interest to world affairs scholars and to plain folk too. It is a collection of four articles Lippmann wrote for the daily newspapers of his talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in 1958.

Each tells what was said as Lippmann interpreted it. The book contains no comments as to the merit of Khrushchev's words.

But Lippman, being an old hand at reporting and commentary in the daily press, is a reliable reporter and the interviews are somewhat enlightening. —B.H.

Paint Failures Due To Poor Preparation

By ANDY LANG

Paint manufacturers know what their product will or will not do. But they are not likely to give you a guarantee because they have no assurance you will do the things necessary to enable the product to do its work.

A large percentage of paint failures is caused by inadequate preparation of the surface. Without this necessary step, even the best quality paint is likely to prove disappointing.

In general, all surfaces to be painted must be free of dirt, dust, oil and grease and, in the case of metal, free of rust or other corrosion. If solvent-thinned paints are used, the surface must be dry, a requirement that is not necessary for water-thinned latex paints.

WOODEN surfaces that are being painted for the first time must be sanded smooth. Nailheads should be countersunk and spot-primed with a rust-inhibiting primer and the holes filled with putty. Knots and sap streaks should receive a coat of knot sealer, shellac or aluminum paint to prevent the wood resins from bleeding through.

New wood requires a primer, a paint specially formulated to adhere to wood and provide an even surface for the topcoat. Finish coats applied to unprimed wood will be absorbed unevenly and will not adhere properly. The primer for enamels is known as an enamel undercoater. It is wise to use a primer made by the manufacturer of the top coat which is being used.

When repainting previously painted exterior surfaces in good condition, the preparation consists only of brushing away dirt and any chalking paint. Loose, flaking or blistering paint should be wire-brushed and/or scraped. Exposed wood should then be primed as if it were a new surface. Where the paint has blistered, cracked or alligatored very badly, the loose paint should be completely removed to the bare wood and the edges of the sound paint sandpapered smooth before priming and repainting.

INTERIOR wood is usually coated with gloss or semi-gloss enamel because of the easy washability of these coatings. But this very gloss interferes with the adhesion of later coats. So, when painting over enamel, dull the shine with fine sandpaper or one of the liquid preparations designed for this purpose.

Metal surfaces, after being freed of dirt, oil and corrosion, require their own special type of anti-corrosive primer, such as zinc chramate, red lead, blue lead or a new primer that contains processed sardine oil. Galvanized metals should be primed with zinc dust-zinc oxide paint. All loose rust must be removed before painting no matter what kind of primer is used.

CRACKS or holes in plaster walls or ceilings should be filled before the room is painted. Small cracks can be filled with spackling compound. Large cracks and holes require patching plaster. After the filler has dried, sand it thoroughly. If a water-thinned latex paint is being used, no primer is required, since latex paints are not affected by the alkali in new plaster. Other paints require an undercoat of alkali-resistant primer before the top coat is applied.

Teach Him To Swim

JOHNNY CAN BE taught to swim more readily if you select one of his friends to learn along with him. Many of the steps can be accomplished more easily when two youngsters work together. Getting Johnny and Jimmy accustomed to the water is the first step. Fill a receptacle with water at home and have the boys put their faces in often enough so that they can hold their breaths and stay in 15 or 20 seconds; then practice exhaling under water and inhaling when the face is out.

IN CHEST-DEEP WATER, Johnny and Jimmy practice breathing by doing the see-saw. Facing each other and with hands clasped, first one and then the other takes a breath, goes below the surface, for two or three seconds. This continues in a rhythmical pattern.

NEXT JOHNNY practices the "sled" or prone glide as it is technically termed. In waist-deep water he leans forward with arms extended and hands together until his shoulders are below the surface. Taking a breath, he places his head in the water and pushes forward. First of series from Red Cross water safety manual.

Decorate Home So It Looks Restful

You can teach yourself how to use pattern in a room by thinking about the differences between the creations of nature and of man.

Nature's handiwork is restful. Your eye takes in large areas of color in fields, sweeping hills and stretches of water.

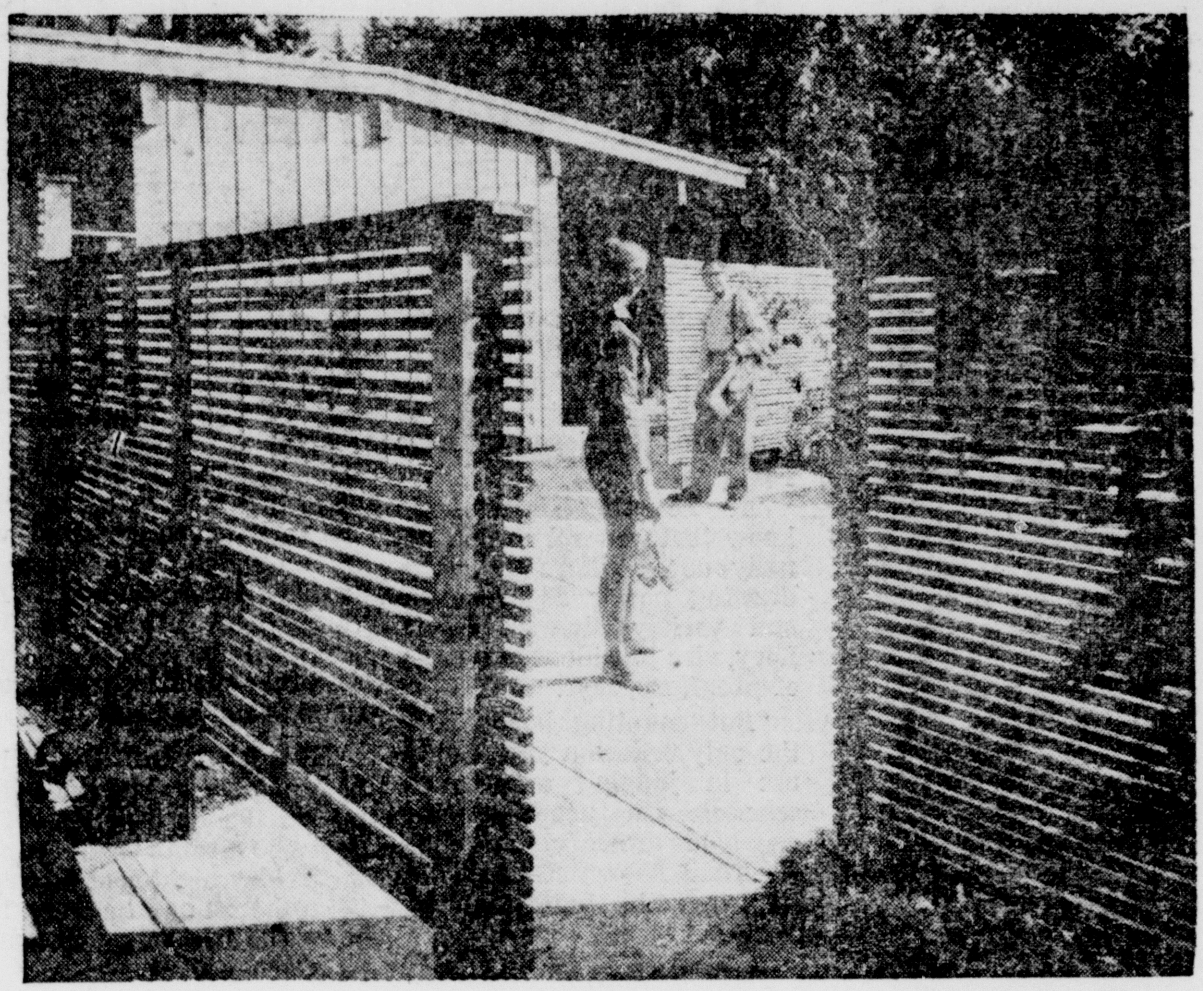

Man's creations keep you mentally alert. Windows, automobiles, store fronts and light poles all cry for attention. A city pattern is stimulating.

The Home Furnishings Industry Committee points out that most persons want to make their homes relaxing—but not dull.

Discreet combination of patterned and plain areas is one way to create this dual effect. Always limit your use of patterns to 30 per cent or less of the total surfaces to keep a room from becoming too busy.

If you have furniture that traces its origin to a definite period, such as Early American, choose patterns that harmonize with the style.

Do-It-Yourself

THE JAPANESE TOUCH is clearly discernible in this delicate screening fence. Screens, used to enclose patio area, are made of 1x1 inch western red cedar strips nailed on sturdy posts of 4x4 inch fir. Time and tempest were allowed to paint the fence with their inimitable silvery grey.

Lacy Patterned Fence Can Give Japanese Flavor To Garden

Marinites are voracious consumers of home and garden ideas—both foreign-produced and home-grown. A favorite subject for summertime scrutiny is fencing.

Here, a householder sometimes bogs down in trying to choose among the many patterns and finishes available for fences. A good rule of thumb to apply is first to decide the purpose of the fence, then to select a style which will both do the job and compliment the home.

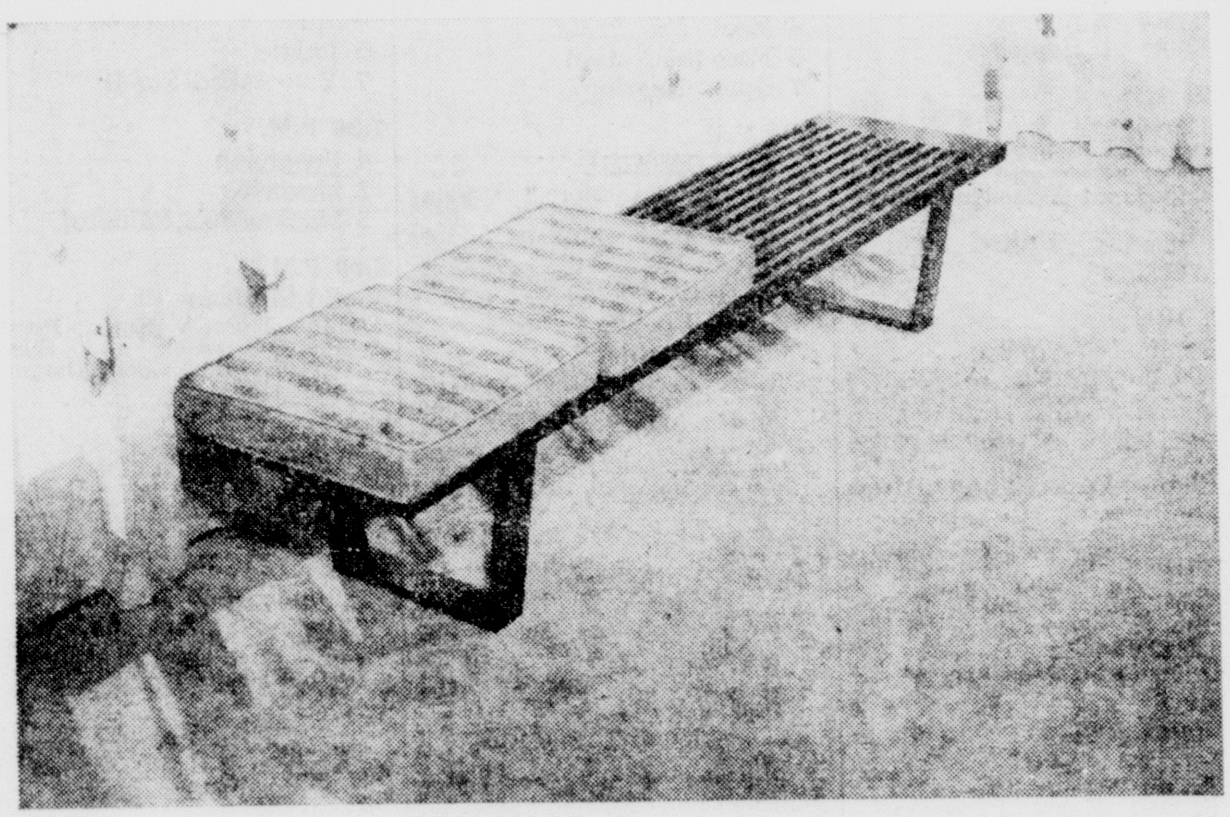

The case of the courtyard fence is a good example. Something to provide privacy is the prime requisite. Yet, it must be decorative. Screens, designed with a delicate touch in the manner of the Japanese, have proven popular for this situation. While insuring the sanctity of the yard, the screens have an airiness which prevents a wall-like appearance.

Built in four- or six-foot sections, the screens are made of 1x1 inch western red cedar strips nailed on a stout framework of 2x4 inch cedar. Four-by-four inch cedar should be used for the posts.

It's always a smart idea to shun straight lines, particularly in the case of a courtyard where fencing is erected on two or more sides. Instead, the screens can be placed in offset fashion or the height of the sections varied for eye interest. Another idea is to alternate panels of fencing with clumps of tall, leafy shrubbery or bamboo groves.

Choosing the correct finish for the screens is easy. If the house features siding of western red cedar stained in either a cedar tone or driftwood, the fencing should match. White fences are the smartest choice for white painted homes. Colored siding calls for either white or natural wood shades in fencing.

One essential to good fence design is that it look as native to the site as possible. Planting greenery of various dimensions along the fence line turns the trick, also giving homeowners a means of incorporating a personal touch into the plan.

NOW IT'S A CLASSIC — This modern bench with a dozen manners and uses has become a classic since it was introduced two decades ago. Casa Marin decorators set it before a sun-flooded sweep of sheer gold dacron draperies custom printed in butterflies to key with the deep turquoise cushions, which match the angle sofa. The off-white beige carpet turns gold with the fabric-filtered light. These draperies are hand-screened from a customer's choice of patterns and colors.

Respect Furniture's Finish When You Clean Or Polish

The finish on furniture is like a woman's complexion. The way it looks is affected by what goes on it.

A woman who wants to look her best discovers cosmetics suited to her coloring and skin type. A wise woman won't put 'just anything" on her face.

She won't use' "just anything on her furniture either.

Different types of finishes require different types of care. The Home Furnishings Industry Committee advises that it's a good idea to find out when you are buying it what type of upkeep your furniture requires.

Today many finishes can be wiped clean with a damp cloth. They never need waxing.

Soft hand-rubbed finishes, like certain complexions, may require treatments with oil or oil combined with other ingredients. Don't experiment, though. Get the correct formula.

Lacquered furniture will keep its beauty if properly cleaned twice a year. Wash it with cheese cloth and a warm neutral suds. (Use suds only. Don't saturate the cloth.) Wipe the suds completely away with a clean damp cloth and rub dry. Apply a water emulsion wax.

CHECKLIST GARDENER'S

- Keep watching tuberous begonias for sign of mildew. Best control is to spray before it shows up.
- Keep transplanting bearded iris that are crowded. Save only the strong, healthy new growths. Check nurseries for new bearded iris varieties.
- Provide shade for transplanted nursery seedings. A shingle will do the trick very nicely.
- Cut back marguerites to keep them in good shape and to freshen them for the new blooms.

NBC Will Revive Mature Dramas

NEW YORK (AP)—In the coming season NBC-TV will make a strong bid to help bring mature television drama back to the status it enjoyed in times past.

"If counting heads, we know that general drama usually doesn't have as gib a drawing power as Westerns and variety shows," David Levy, vice president in charge of programs, says.

"But counting heads isn't the only criterion you should use in judging a network schedule. One needs at least one home-grown and produced drama show because it's a staple of the entertainment world."

THUS THERE will come into being on NBC-TV the "Sunday Showcase" of dramatic specials. Scheduled for 8 p.m., it will run against two popular programs on the opposition networks: Ed Sullivan on CBS and "Maverick" on ABC.

"Sunday Showcase" is one of three weekly hours that NBC-TV will devote to a variety of special shows embracing drama, musicals, documentaries. Tuesdays at 9:30 p.m. has been purchased by the Ford Motor Co. for what network executives feel will be an outstanding series of varied entertainment. The third hour, Fridays at 8:30 p.m., will be a nesting place for other specials, dramas and news documentaries.

INGRID BERGMAN has been signed to star in a drama on the Ford series. "The Best of Durante" will launch the Friday night spot on Sept. 25, to be followed a week later by the first of a half-dozen Art Carney shows.

The first "Sunday Showcase" offering on Sept. 20 will be an original by S. Lee Pogostin entitled "People Kill People Sometimes." It will be followed by a two-part adaptation of Budd Schulberg's "What Makes Sammy Run?"

TV Phones Have Dummy Digits

NEW YORK (AP)—When Joe Friday or Brenner or anybody else in a television show gives a telephone number while the plot is unwinding, they use dummy digits.

The telephone company has a special list of authentic-sounding numbers but they ring nothing. Broadcasters have learned from experience that the great big audience out there contains people curious enough to put in a call.

Hunting for such items is part of many people's jobs in a telephone industry. One executive employed by the National Assn. of Broadcasters says he caught a telephone number in a script — and found it was actually the number of a New York physician.

Names of characters are another area for watching. Occasionally the networks get squawks from annoyed citizens who claim that their names were given to unsavory characters.

Some writers and some editors, says Stockton Helffrich of NBC's continuity acceptance department, use a system of taking common given names and coupling them with a place name—a lot of towns have handles which do nicely as surnames.

"We just try to use common sense," says Helffrich.

One of the more difficult problems is the complaints which come in when names of easily identified national origin are used. Recently there has been a lot of TV drama concerning the old prohibition gangster days, and complaints have come in from those of Italian descent.

SOUTHERN SLEUTHS — "Bourbon Street Beat," a private detective adventure series debutting on ABC-TV network Oct. 5, will have in principal roles (from left) Andrew Duggan, Arlene Howell, Van Williams and Richard Long. The setting is New Orleans. Long, who tops the cast, has starred in films as well as TV. Miss Howell was last year's Miss United States and has appeared in episodes of "77 Sunset Strip" and "Maverick."
